Red Sox Fail to Bunch Hits on Rube, and Giants Win Third Game of World's Series, 2 to 1—Boston Garners Lone Run in Final Inning on Sharp Hitting—Little Josh Devore Stars.

Boston, Oct. 10.—The New York Nationals overcame the Boston Americans today by a score of 2 to 1 in the third game of the world's baseball championship series. Each club has now won a victory, the second game having ended in a tie. Nearly 35,000 persons witnessed the pitcher's battle in which the Giants left hander, "Rube" Marquard opposed the Red Sox spit ball moundsman, "Buck" O'Brien, and Marquard carried off the honors.

Little Josh Devore was the hero of the day. The midget outfielder made a catch that snatched seeming victory from the Bostons and sent them down to defeat. The Red Sox made a desperate rally in the ninth and there were men on second and third and two out when Cady came to the bat. The Boston catcher sent a terrific drive between right and center and Devore was off with the crack of the bat. The crowd cheered for two Red Sox men were on the way home and victory seemed won, when Devore, speeding after the ball, speared it with his gloved hand on the dead run, ending the game.

Marquard was a puzzle to the Bostonians. His fast ball sped over the plate with the swish of a raw hide lash and his curves were under good control. He gave only one base on balls. In only one inning did the Red Sox have Marquard in trouble and that was in the thrilling ninth, when Boston made its last stand and sent one run over the plate. The Giants' boxman did not allow the Red Sox batters to get more than one hit in any one inning until the final rally.

"Buck" O'Brien held New York to six hits, but three of these were made when they counted for runs. O'Brien found himself in difficulties in the second, when Murray led off with a double, which resulted in a run on a sacrifice hit and a sacrifice fly, and again in the fifth, when Herzog rapped out another two bagger and came home, after Meyers had advanced him to third, on Fletcher's single.

Boston made its fight in the ninth when two runs were needed to tie. The crowd groaned when Speaker popped to Fletcher and hundreds started for the exits. Lewis scratched an infield hit and Herzog rushed in to steady Marquard. Gardner drove a wicked bounder past Merkle along the right field line and Lewis was rounding third when Speaker checked him. Lewis fought Speaker off, but half way toward home he heard a warning cry and turned back. Once more he ran toward home and scored.

That momentary return of Lewis to third base was costly. Gardner on his drive, which Devore played with difficulty off the fence, had dashed over second and would have made third, but Lewis returning to that base forced Gardner to hustle back to second. When Lewis finally ran home it was too late for Gardner to advance. With Gardner on third he could easily have tied the score on Merkle's muff of Fletcher's throw on Wagner's grounder which followed.

Tris Speaker limped through the game with a wrenched ankle, but that did not prevent him, in New York's half of the ninth inning from racing over toward the temporary fence and taking Fletcher's drive, labelled for three bases. Then reeling quickly, Speaker threw to Stahl and doubled Meyers, who was rounding third, thinking the ball had gone to the back fence.

"Boston got the start on us," said Manager McGraw tonight, "but we caught them today and now we will go to the front. The Giants have learned much of Boston's style of playing in the last three games and they will profit by it."

Manager Stahl remarked that things did not break right for the Red Sox today, but he took the defeat cheerfully.

The two clubs returned tonight to New York, where the Polo Grounds will find them in combat tomorrow, weather conditions permitting.

There were nine strike outs today. O'Brien fanned twice and Hooper, Yerkes, Wagner, Ball, Devore, Merkle and Meyers once each. Three bases were stolen, by Wagner, Devore and Fletcher.

The largest crowd that ever saw a baseball game in Boston passed through the turnstiles of Fenway Park. The National Commission's figures showed a paid attendance of 34,624. The crowd came late and the stands did not really begin to fill up until an hour before Umpire Evans called play. The stands were jammed and hundreds stood behind temporary fences in the back field.

Attendance and Receipts

The National Commission's figures for attendance and receipts at today's game shows: Total attendance 34,624; total receipts $63,142. National Commission's share $6,314.20. Players' share $34,096.68. Each club's share $11,365.56.

All world's series records for attendance and receipts and consequently the players' share of the money are practically to be broken in the present series. The total receipts for the first three games of the present series is a record for corresponding games, being $196,638 as compared with $195,914 last year.

The total attendance for the first three games, however, falls short of the record for these games by about 1,200. The figures are 100,502 this year to 101,783 last season.

In the three games already played of the present series the players will share in $106,183.94, 60 per cent. to the winners and 40 per cent. to the losers. This compares with $127,910 for their entire share last year. The fourth game of the series to be played in New York tomorrow is the last in which the players are entitled to share in the receipts. Officials of the contending clubs say members of the winning club will have about $4,000 each. Last year the Philadelphia Athletics received $3,654.58 each.

The Game Begins.

After it was announced that if a ball hit one of the policemen standing in the outfield it would be still in play the same as if it had hit a fence, O'Brien took his place in the pitching box and the first three offerings to Devore were called balls by Umpire Evans. The fourth was a strike and then Devore shot the next one over second for a single to the outfield, amid the cheers of the New York rooters. Doyle put up a high one to Tris Speaker and Devore was the second out when he tried to steal second base, Carrigan to Wagner. Snodgrass also sent up a fly to Speaker.

Boston was easy for New York in the first. Hooper sent up a fly which Fletcher got. Yerkes struck out and Speaker hit a weak grounder to Doyle, who tossed the center fielder out as he limped to the base.

The Giants Score.

The scoring started in the second inning. Murray started the New York contingent to cheering when he drove a hit to right center for two bases. Merkle laid down a neat sacrifice, going out, O'Brien to Stahl.

Murray reached third on the play and then scored on Herzog's sacrifice fly to Hooper, the latter's throw being a little wide at the plate. Meyers was out Gardner to Stahl.

The Red Sox got their first hit in the second inning, when Lewis sent a fast single to center. He reached second on Gardner's sacrifice, Herzog to Merkle. Murray gathered in Stahl's fly, holding Lewis on second and Wagner fell a victim to strikes, while the Boston crowd yelled for a hit.

New York Scores Again.

With Boston still scoreless, the Giants made their second and last tally in the fifth. Marquard was a complete puzzle to the home players. Herzog, who was playing gilt edged ball, sent a drive to left field for two bases. "Chief" Meyers put him on third by his out, O'Brien to Stahl. Fletcher then singled to right and brought Herzog home. McGraw gave Fletcher the sign and the shortstop streaked for second and make the bag for a clean steal. Marquard got a base on balls, but was forced at second by Devore, Wagner to Yerkes, Fletcher taking third on the out. Devore also stole second and Bedient warmed up as Doyle was given a base on balls.

O'Brien in a Hole.

With the bases full it looked bad for O'Brien. He gave Snodgrass three balls and then put over two strikes. Snodgrass fouled the next two and then sent up a fly which Lewis caught, ending the inning. The big crowd almost went wild as O'Brien walked to the bench. It was a bad hole to get out of and the Boston fans breathed easier.

Some Great Fielding.

Boston's half of the fifth brought out two of the fielding features of the game. Stahl slashed a hit over Merkle's head that Devore fielded sharply, holding the Boston manager on first. Meyers then let one of Marquard's wide ones get past him and Stahl made a dash for second. The big Indian was right on the ball, however, and by a long and accurate throw got the ball to the base ahead of Stahl, Doyle making the out. A moment later Wagner sent up a high fly that Murray seemingly lost in the sun. He ran up on the ball and then started to go back rapidly to the fence. It loked as if the ball was going over his head, probably for a two-base hit, but Murray shot his hand in the air as he went backward and speared the ball amid the cheers of even the Boston fans.

It was one of the best outfield plays of the series. Carrigan ended the inning by going out, Marquard to Merkle.

Stahl Makes Several Changes

In the eighth inning Manager Stahl made several changes in batters in the hope of tying the score with New York. Engle batted for Carrigan and flied to Murray. Neal Ball batted for O'Brien and struck out. Marquard here gave his only base on balls to Hooper who was left at first as Yerkes ended the inning by going out Herzog to Merkle.

Bedient Relieves O'Brien

Bedient and Cady were the battery for the Red Sox when New York came to bat in the ninth. The first thing Bedient did was to hit Herzog, who went to first. On an attempted steal Herzog was out, Cady to Yerkes. Meyers singled to center and the only double play of the game here ended New York's inning, when Fletcher sent a long fly to Speaker, who doubled up Meyers on a throw to first. Meyers

TWIRLS GIANTS TO A 2 TO 1 VICTORY

RUBE MARQUARD

ILLINOIS WILD OVER WILSON

All Factions of Democracy Unite and Give the Nominee a Royal Welcome—Attacks the Progressive Programme.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—All factions of Illinois Democracy marched side by side today and cheered Governor Woodrow Wilson, the standard bearer of the National ticket. From the moment of arrival until late today, when the Governor departed for Ohio, his reception was one of noisy demonstration and enthusiasm. As he rode through the densely crowded streets on his arrival he stood in an automobile and waved to thousands who dotted the windows of factories and offices, and a moving mass of people who trailed along beside him. The Governor recovered his voice sufficiently to make an extended speech at a theatre at noon, but was unable to reach the crowd that gathered at the Seventh Regiment Armory tonight. The theatre where the Governor spoke at noon was jammed from gallery to pit. The cheering developed into a prolonged demonstration. A noisy element in the gallery continued to shout "Put them out, put them out!" "No, no, don't put anybody out," said the Governor quickly and the crowd gradually quieted itself.

"I have been greatly exhilirated as I have passed from one part of this Nation to another," said the nominee, "by the generous cheers of the people that greet me. The cheers are not going to settle this contest. Steadfast principle, clear vision, fearless thinking are going to save this Nation and nothing else, and therefore, it is my duty, whenever I have the privilege of facing an audience, to call their attention to the very serious issues which are at stake, for in my judgment, they are nothing less for America than the issues of life and death."

Once during the Governor's speech a voice in the gallery called "Hurrah for Teddy," just as the speaker began to take up the planks in the Progressive platform.

"Just wait a minute," said the Governor, "and see if you'll feel the same after I have explained." The Governor then lauded that part of the Progressive platform which advocated humanitarian and social reforms, but declared the failure of the same platform to condemn monopolies and pronounce itself explicitly in favor of tariff reform, made it necessary to ask by whom and how the social parts of the programme were to be accomplished. The Governor emphasized "Who and how" in his question, and the crowd responded with cheers and approval.

At the Seventh Regiment armory, Governor Wilson addressed a crowd which overflowed the building. His speech touched mainly upon the points he had discussed during the day. The brief rest he had obtained between speeches had improved his voice and he was able to make himself heard with little difficulty.

ALLEGED "WHITE SLAVERS."

They were found asleep with the girl in a poorly furnished room near the negro quarter. After a hearing they were held without bail to await the action of the Federal authorities. The arrests were made at the request of the Department of Justice, at Washington. The prisoners will be charged with transporting a girl from State to State for immoral purposes in violation of the "white slave act." The girl is being cared for by the authorities.

ARCHBOLD BEFORE COMMITTEE AGAIN

Admits Authenticity of the "Standard Oil Letters" Published by Hearst

$100,000 RECEIPT DESTROYED

Says One Given to Him by Bliss Had Been Destroyed by Himself and H. H. Rogers—Charles D. Hilles on Stand

Washington, Oct. 10.—The authenticity of the majority of the letters recently made public by William R. Hearst, purporting to have passed between John D. Archbold, of the Standard Oil Company and members of the House and Senate, was admitted by Mr. Archbold today before the Senate committee investigating campaign contributions expenditures.

The letters of which fac simile photographs have been published were in almost every case identified by Mr. Archbold, with the statement: "I undoubtedly wrote that." These included letters to and from Senators Hanna, Foraker, Quay and Penrose and former Representatives Sibley, of Pennsylvania and Grosvenor, of Ohio.

Many letters Mr. Archbold said he did not remember, but he recognized handwriting and signatures and admitted their genuineness. The president of the Standard Oil Company, recalled by the committee after making his charge in August that he had given $100,000 to the Republican campaign fund of 1904, admitted today that the receipt given by Cornelius N. Bliss for the sum had been destroyed by himself and H. H. Rogers, now dead. He said he had not been able to find even a book entry of the amount, on the books of the Standard Oil Company.

"I repeat that the money was paid," he said, "and was not refused; that it was paid by me to Mr. Bliss. I don't want any man to tell me it was not."

On the suggestion of Senator Pomerene, the committee finally asked Mr. Archbold to have expert accountants search the books of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, and its former associates to try and find the record of the $100,000 having been paid out.

"May I raise the question of how important it is to find that entry?" asked Mr. Archbold. "There is no manner of question that the money was given."

"There is some question whether it was paid," returned Senator Pomorene, "and there was a statement made that it was refused. We want all the evidence we can get."

Charles D. Hilles, chairman of the Republican National Committee, also a witness today, was asked by Chairman Clapp if he gave out a statement that the August primary fight for Colonel Roosevelt that had "cost the Harvester Trust millions of dollars."

"I assume the responsibility for it," he answered.

His explanation was given to the committee in the form of a letter he had just written to George W. Perkins, who with Senator Dixon, demanded that Mr. Hilles be called to account for his statement. The letter expressed the opinion that Colonel Roosevelt's pre-convention campaign expenses undoubtedly amounted to not less than $2,000,000.

The letter which Mr. Hilles read to the committee, asserted that witnesses had already testified to giving $667,000 for the Roosevelt campaign, and that expenses in different States and throughout the country would make the total he gave. Chairman Clapp questioned the witness sharply as to his information and Mr. Hilles said it consisted of his general knowledge of what the Roosevelt workers had been doing, and his specific knowledge of what certain kinds of campaign activity cost.

He gave the committee no new information regarding contributions to the Taft pre-convention fund, except a list of the contributors to the fund raised in Chicago, the total of which Representative McKinley had included in his statement earlier in the week.

Mr. Archbold's indentification of the various letters was followed by little questioning from the committee. He said the money referred to in some of them, as having been sent to Senator Foraker had been for legal services in the State of Ohio; that he wrote to Senator M. A. Hanna to watch legislative affairs there because Mr. Hanna had been a lifelong friend; and that a contribution of $1,000 to Senator Qnay had been entirely a political contribution, as had the $15,000 contribution to Senator Penrose.

He did not know to whom Mr. Sibley had referred in the letter, saying that a certain Senator had requested a loan of $1,000 and asking if Mr. Archbold wanted "to make the investment."

He said he did not send the $1,000, had no talk with Mr. Sibley about it and did not know to whom the statement related.

Mr. Archbold presented four new letters that he had found as the result of a search of his files, the only ones, he said, "that had escaped the

VICTORY CLAIMED BY MONTENEGRINS

Strong Turkish Position on Detchitch Mountain Captured by Them.

SITUATION STILL PUZZLING

Bulgarian Attacks on Turkish Frontier Reported—Austria Prepared to Guard Interests—Mobilization Complete

London, Oct. 10. — Montenegro claims the first victory in the Balkan war by the capture of the strong Turkish position on Detchitch mountain, whose commander surrendered today with the bulk of his forces. Montenegrins also crossed the frontier near Berana, and according to the Turkish account, have been repulsed.

The situation meanwhile, is as puzzling as before. No declaration of war has been issued by the other allied Balkan States and there is no news yet of their ministers having left Constantinople. It cannot therefore be definitely said whether Montenegro has acted independently, with the motive of forcing a conflict so as to render efforts of the powers to preserve peace at naught, or in accordance with a strategic plan arranged by the Balkan coalition. The powers presented a collective note inveighing the Turkish government to discuss a scheme for reforms in Macedonia. It appears, however, as though while diplomacy is trying to arrange the matters peacefully, guns will decide it for them.

Fresh Bulgarian attacks on Turkish frontier towns are reported tonight and the opinion is growing that the opposing parties are only using diplomatic delays to concentrate their forces in readiness for the inevitable outbreak.

The statement of the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, Count Von Berchthold, in the Hungarian delegation today, that Austria is prepared to guard here interests in the Balkans at all hazards, has caused a sensation in European capitals as an indication that the powers may be unable to confine themselves to the policy of merely holding the ropes.

The Frankfurter Zeitung publishes a sensational report that Greece will withdraw from the Balkan agreement and demobilize, but this is hardly credited here. Both Greece and Turkey are trying to purchase the Chinese cruiser Chao Ho, recently built at New Castle.

The mobilization of the Bulgarian army is complete. Five Russian aviators arrived today to operate with the Bulgarian forces, according to a news agency dispatch from Sofia.

Turks Clamor for War.

Constantinople, Tuesday, Oct. 8. (Delayed in transmission)—A violent storm of opposition has been aroused by the Turkish government's decision to grant reforms in Macedonia.

Some 5,000 students, armed with revolvers, today marched to the Porte, clamoring for "war and no surrender." On the way they met the Minister of War, to whom they shouted, "We want war."

The minister replied: "Nobody wants peace."

At the Porte where the ministers were sitting in council, the students broke the windows of the Grand Vizierate, shouting "We will not have the treaty of Berlin."

The grand vizier, Ghazi Ahmed Mukhtar Pasha, who assured them that the application of article 23 of the treaty of Berlin did not mean autonomy or independence for Macedonia, was received with hisses. Eventually he promised to receive a deputation of the students and the crowd dispersed. It is believed the demonstration was organized by the party of Union and Progressives and that the position of the cabinet will be compromised if it shows any weakness.

This is the first uncensored dispatch from Constantinople since martial law was proclaimed. It was sent by an indirect route.

Turkish Commander Surrenders.

Podgritza, Montenegro, Oct. 10.—The Montenegrins have captured Detchitch mountain. The Turkish commander and officers with many soldiers have surrendered.

For the last 30 hours the battle between the Montenegrin forces in direct command of Nicholas, and Turk-

SYSTEM ENJOINED IN LOCAL CANVASS

Enthusiastic Meeting of Wilson Campaign Workers at Court House.

OVER FOUR THOUSAND DOLLARS

Teams More Compactly Organized and Individual Responsibility Emphasized—A Comparison Suggested.

System and the need of persistent, active service in a cause which is worth "going to war for", were emphasized and borne in upon the members of the Committee of One Hundred to raise $10,000 for Wilson's campaign fund, at the meeting last night at the Court House.

Chairman W. A. McGirt presided and Secretary M. H. Brimmer was at his post, with an attendance of quite a gratifying percentage of the active, enthusiastic workers for Wilson on the committee. Several team captains or committee chairmen made reports during the evening, swelling the contributions to something over $4,000, but as quite a large number of subscriptions are expected today, it is entirely within the range of probability that the amount within the next two days will pass the $5,000 mark. The meeting last night was characterized by an earnestness of purpose that indicates that the various teams have only "just begun to fight." Only the high places have been touched in the canvass, but at the meeting last night Chairman McGirt was authorized to systematize the work and to bring it definitely and concretely within the view of the various team captains, with the likelihood that much more effective work will be done from now on. One of the strongest points brought out at the meeting last night was that Wilmington in her generosity recently contributed $7,500 to entertain a Republican President for one day and the question was very pertinently asked if she would not now contribute $10,000 to elect a Democratic President for four years. There can be but one answer: WILMINGTON WILL!

The responsibility now rests with the team captains and those who have volunteered to assist them. The matter was put squarely up to them last night and there can now be no shirking of responsibility. Quick, effective, systematic work will begin today.

BOSTON HELPLESS BEFORE MARQUARD

did not know the ball had been caught until he had almost reached third base.

Boston Gets a Run

Then came the dramatic finish of the game. For Boston Speaker who limped to the plate flied out to Fletcher. Lewis brought the 34,000 persons to their toes when he singled to right and the excitement became intense when Gardner drove one to right field for two bases, scoring Lewis. The crowd began to stamp their feet and yell at Marquard, but the New York pitcher kept his nerve. Stahl was called upon to duplicate his drive of the seventh inning, but the best he could do was to hit a slow grounder to Marquard, who taking the fielder's choice, threw Gardner out at third. The crowd groaned.

Devore Saves the Day

Henriksen took Stahl's place at first to run for him and Wagner sent a grounder to Fletcher who threw to Merkle. The game was over, but Merkle dropped the ball and Wagner was safe. Henriksen sprinted to third on the misplay. The din set up by the crowd was terrific as Cady came to bat. Wagner stole second and the crowd cheered. A hit meant the winning of the game and Cady tried hard for it. He sent a long fly to deep right field which Devore raced to reach. No one believed he would get it, but the little New Yorker managed to get under the drive and saved the day for New York. It was a great catch.

A. & M. FOOTBALL SQUAD.

How the Men Are "Stacking Up"—Coming Gridiron Battles.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

West Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 10.—Saturday A. & M. football team will go up against the strong team representing Virginia Medical College. Although this will be the first time the Medicos have made an appearance in Raleigh, and they are practically an unknown quantity here in regard to strength, it is a well known fact to those who have kept up with the games played this Fall, that they have been putting up some great games. Last Saturday they defeated the strong team of the Richmond Blues 14 to 0, and on the previous Saturday, Washington & Lee had a hard time making it one touchdown against the "Doctors." The Virginia Medical College team is composed mostly of old college stars, their left tackle, Walker, being an all-American tackle, having played on the University of Minnesota; and Hedgepeth, right tackle and an old U. N. C. player, is an all-South Atlantic man. Schenck, quarterback, is also an old star, and in fact, the whole team is said to be one of the best teams in Virginia, and the A. & M. eleven will have a hard fight on her hands to get the large end of the score on Saturday.

Last Saturday's game was the first on the Tech's schedule, and was the only chance that has been had so far to see what kind of a team they have this season, especially in view of the fact that it is made up largely of new material. In the game against the Franklin, the Red and White showed up as well as could be hoped for, with the possible exception of a little slowness of the backfield. However, this will improve with practice, and with a week of hard work it will undoubtedly show a marked improvement in the game with the Medical College. A. & M. is especially strong in the line, as was very much in evidence in the game with the Sailors, as they seldom made an appreciable gain except by means of the forward pass, which they worked with much success on several occasions. The whole Red & White team will average about 174 pounds, the line weighing on an average of 189 pounds from tackle to tackle and 178 pounds from end to end.

Phillips, who made such a reputation last year at left end, is showing even greater form this year at that position. He weighs 148 pounds. Hurtt will be seen at left tackle again this year. He weighs 171 pounds, and is one of the best tackles in the South. Sykes, the giant left guard, weighs 224 pounds, and this will be his second year at that position. Morton, who was a substitute last year is ably holding down center. He weighs 176 pounds. McHenry, a new man who hails from Louisiana, weighs 186 pounds, and is playing right guard. He is very fast and gritty, and a good sized opening can generally be found on his side of the line at the proper time. Terry, another new man, weighing 187 pounds, is holding down right tackle like a veteran. Champion, a last year's Raleigh High School boy, is showing up well at right end. He weighs 153 pounds, is very fast, and generally gets everything coming around his end. In the backfield, Page who was a last year's substitute, is playing the quarterback position like an old general. He is also very fast, and a broken field runner on the Robertson style. He weighs 145 pounds. Capt. Cool, who has been laid up for a couple of weeks with an injured knee, is back at half again. He weighs 170 pounds, and is one of the strongest of the backfield men, having made a reputation during the past two years in which he has played on the team. Anthony, halfback, weighs 172 pounds, and is one of the most consistent ground gainers on the team. Hargrove is playing fullback again this year. He weighs 176 pounds, and is very fast. Spencer another last year's varsity man, weighs 165 pounds. He is a good ground gainer, and also a good punter. Osborne, the lightest man on the team, weighing 133 pounds, is very fast, and is showing up exceptionally well in the backfield, having starred in last Saturday's game at fullback.

The game Saturday will be watched with much interest, as it will be the final chance to size up the team and determine the possibilities of the outcome of the game with Georgetown next Thursday, which will be one of the biggest games of the season.

Princeton Men Must Sign Contracts Not to Resell Tickets at Profit.

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 10.—Determined to keep the ticket for the so-called "big games" out of the hands of scalpers, the Princeton University football management has announced that all purchasers of tickets must sign contracts not to sell them at a profit or to strangers. Heretofore there has been a verbal agreement between the purchaser and the management that tickets would not be re-sold, but as this has not prevented speculators from getting possession of a considerable number, the new policy has been adopted.

T. R. ATTACKS WILSON.

Colonel Criticises Democratic Nominee's Writings on Immigration.

Duluth, Minn., Oct. 10.—Governor Woodrow Wilson's writings on immigration were taken up tonight by Col. Roosevelt, who charged that the Democratic candidate had offered explanations of his views of such a character that he did not see how any man could be expected to believe them. He also criticised Governor Wilson for a statement attributed to him, that the United States Steel Corporation was supporting the Progressive ticket.

Col. Roosevelt tonight read extracts from a magazine article written by Governor Wilson in 1889, quoting the writer as saying that the character of the Nation was being "most deeply affected and modified by the immigration which year after year pours into this country from Europe" and that "our own temperate blood, schooled to self-possession and to the measured conduct of self government, is receiving constant confusion and yearly experiencing a partial corruption of foreign blood."

He quoted Governor Wilson as having written that the Chinese were "more to be desired as workers, if not as citizens, than most of the coarse crew that came crowding in every year at Eastern ports."

"When asked to explain this in March last," Col. Roosevelt went on, "Mr. Wilson wrote to Mr. DiSylvesto in part as follows:

"I was, in the passage alluded to, only deploring the coming to this country of certain lawless elements which I had supposed all thoughtful aliens themselves deplored."

In another letter published in the New York Tribune of March 12th, 1912," Col. Roosevelt continued, "Mr. Wilson says: 'I referred to the class of laborers which was brought here under pauper labor contracts.'

"I am reluctantly obliged to say that it is quite impossible to reconcile the two explanatioins Mr. Wilson gives as I have above quoted them, with the facts. He was contrasting immigrants generally with natives and the immigrants of certain European countries with those from other European countries, and I regret, for Mr. Wilson's own sake, that he should have made such a defense."

DECLINES TO INTERVENE.

M. Poincare Won't Attempt to Get Improved Passport Facilities.

Paris, Oct. 10.—Premier Poincare today declined to intervene with Russia at the request of the League of the Rights of the Man, in the attempt to obtain improved passport facilities for French Israelites desiring to enter Russia.

In a long letter addressed to Frances De Pressense, president of the league, he cites the negotiations between the United States and Russia.

"However desirable," he says, "would be a liberal modification of the traditional Russian regime, Russian National sentiment would revolt against foreign pressure designed to bring about an amelioration," he continues: "The complete check experienced by the government of the United States which was followed by the denunciation of the Russian treaty of commerce, renders any attempt of this nature clearly inopportune. You will recognize that it could not be a question for our country to resort to a measure of this kind."

M. Poincare points out that while the French law proclaims equality for all citizens without distinction of religious belief, the Russian law, which is based on the existence of a State religion, is inspired with a different principle and creates distinction of that nature.

ROBERT R. BELLAMY.

BECKER TRIAL BEGINS.

Jury Complete—Whitman Makes Address—Testimony Begun.

New York, Oct. 10.—The trial of Charles Becker, former police lieutenant, for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, began in earnest today. The jury was completed, District Attorney Whitman made his opening address and the taking of testimony was begun.

Louis Krause, a Hungarian waiter, was the star witness. He was called by the State as an eye witness of the murder and identified in the court room "Gyp the Blood", "Lefty Louie" and "Whitey Lewis", as the actual slayers of the gambler. As to "Dago Frank," the fourth of the gunmen indicted for the murder, Krause was not certain, but he positively identified Jack Sullivan, one of Becker's alleged tools, as the man who bent over Rosenthal's dead body after it lay on the sidewalk in front of the Hotel Metropole.

Although John F. McIntyre, counsel for the defense, spent two hours in cross examination, the waiter tenaciously stuck to his story. Justice Goff himself finally stopped the lawyer's questions.

"I do not think it is conducive to the interests of justice further to examine this witness," declared the justice. "I will permit no further question and discharge the witness."

Krause's identification of the three gunmen made a dramatic scene in the court room. The waiter told of having been attracted into 43rd street about 2 o'clock on the morning of July 16th, the day of the murder, by "several groups of men standing in the street." In one group, he said, was "Bridgie" Webber and in another the three gunmen who were standing near a touring car.

"I saw a man come out of the Metropole and give a signal," said the witness. "He raised his hand. Another man came out of the hotel right after this one and then four men crossed the street, from the automobile. At least three of them had revolvers and fired.

"While Rosenthal was lying on the sidewalk, I saw Jack Sullivan bend over him. Sullivan looked up and smiled at the other men."

The four gunmen and Sullivan were then brought into court. Krause, who later testified that he has received letters threatening his life, and who ever since he testified before the grand jury, has been guarded by a detective, walked over to the bar where the prisoners were lined up.

"That is 'Lefty Louie,'" said Krause, touching the gunmen on the shoulder. Successively he identified the other prisoners, with the exception of "Dago Frank" and met their angry glares without flinching.

Then Mr. McIntyre began his cross-examination. That it was his purpose to try to discredit the identification of the gunmen soon became evident and this caused a stir. It had been generally supposed Becker's attorney would make no effort to defend the men charged with the actual slaying.

"Do you remember saying to Henry Shea, a special officer, that you did not see a single person who did the murder?" asked Mr. McIntyre.

"I did not."

"You say you saw three men whom you thought did the shooting?"

"No, three men who did the shooting," corrected the witness.

"When you say you saw these three men in group near the touring car," thundered the lawyer, "don't you know that you are committing a deliberate perjury?"

"I do not," returned the waiter.

That the State would be allowed wide scope in introducing evidence bearing upon graft in the police department was indicated when Justice Goff overruled an injunction to references by the district attorney in his address to the jury of the alleged gambling house partnership between Becker and Rosenthal. "It is perfectly evident that the State's case depends upon circumstantial evidence," remarked Justice Goff, "and the field for proving conspiracy must be wide. I will allow all evidence tending to show a motive."

Two mysterious new witnesses for the prosecution were brought to the district attorney's office handcuffed late today. They are Jacob and Morris Luban, brothers, who have been under arrest in Newark, N. J., for alleged connection with a band of swindlers.

While Mr. Whitman would not disclose tonight what he expects to prove by the two men, it was reported that they had been eye witnesses to the killing of Rosenthal and would be called on to identify the slayers.

Mr. Whitman, upon the arrival of the men, sent for Jack Rose, one of his important witnesses who remained in the prosecutor's office for half an hour.

Salem, Mass., Oct. 10.—Judge Joseph F. Quinn, of the Superior Court, today declined to order the release on bail of Joseph J. Ettor, Arturo Giovannetti and Joseph Caruso, whose trial on charges of being responsible for the alleged murder of Anna Lopezzo, a Lawrence mill worker, is pending in his court.

NAVAL STORES "TRUST" TRIAL.

Government's Suit for Dissolution Begins at Atlanta.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 10.—The government suit to dissolve the American Naval Stores Company, of Savannah, as falling within the prohibitions of the Sherman act, was brought to a hearing in the Circuit Court of Appeals today. In addition to the Naval Stores Company the suit names the following individual defendants:

Edmund S. Nash, Spencer P. Shotter, J. F. Cooper Myers, C. J. DeLoach, George M. Boardman and Charles Moller.

The Government alleges that the American Naval Stores Company, known as the "trust," arbitrarily fixes the price of turpentine and rosin for practically the world; that it controls 90 per cent. of the American production of these articles, and 75 per cent of the world's production, and that it has throttled competition and established a virtual monopoly.

The equity suit is to dissolve the corporation into its component parts, as they existed prior to 1902, and to establish a receiver for the properties if the corporation does not comply with such decision of the court. It would make illegal the holding of stock in one corporation by another, with which it might compete.

Alex Akerman and James A. Fowler, assistant United States attorneys, are representing the Government as prosecutors.

FINE DEMOCRATIC OUTLOOK

State Chairman Webb Enthusiastic Over Prospects — Educational Conference—Fire Prevention Day—Raleigh Notes

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 10.—State Chairman Chas. A. Webb, of the Democratic executive committee, just back from a stay of several days in the western section of the State, says that conditions are most gratifying for record-breaking majorities for National, State and local tickets.

He is convinced that in the 10th district Congressman Gudger will be re-elected by a greatly increased majority and that he never knew such interest in the general State campaign. For instance at Jackson a few days ago where there are only about 2,000 voters in that whole surrounding country, there were more than 3,000 people out for the speech by Hon. Locke Craig, candidate for Governor. Chairman Webb is highly pleased with the Western Carolina conditions. And, indeed, with reports as they are coming in from all sections of the State.

Dr. A. P. Bourland, executive agent for the Southern Educational Board, here for the special conference with Dr. J. Y. Joyner, State superintendent of public instruction; Mr. Clarence Poe and Dr. D. H. Hill, of the North Carolina executive committee of the board, says preparations are progressing finely for a special conference of the board and leading representatives of various industries of the South at Richmond probably in April, when it is purposed to give special attention not only to the general school uplift in the South but to a number of economical problems. There will be special consideration of farmers' co-operative corporations for financing farmers and to other economic problems Railroad presidents of the South, bankers and manufacturers will be gathered in Richmond for this conference along with the active school men and vital data gathered in all parts of the world in the most accurate manner will be at hand to guide these educational and industrial leaders in whatever action taken. Dr. Bourland will be here several days conferring with Dr. Joyner and the other educational leaders hereabouts.

There are 112 licensed dealers in cigarettes in Wake county for this year, compared with 109 last year, which was a high record both for the county and leads all other counties in the State for number of dealers.

State Commissioner of Insurance Young says that there was a most gratifying general observance yesterday of the "Fire Prevention Day," and that he is convinced that great good was accomplished through bringing to the attention of the people the necessity of looking into the condition of flues and other fire equipment in places of business and homes and clearing out conditions generally that contribute to fire waste. He went to Selma tonight to deliver an address in connection with Fire Prevention Day observance there which was postponed from yesterday in order that he might attend.

A license was issued today for The Commercial Union Fire Insurance Co., of New York, to do business in this State. This makes more than 160 companies licensed to do fire insurance business in this State.

N. J. ROUSE SPEAKS.

Heard in Goldsboro in Interest of Hon. F. M. Simmons.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Goldsboro, N. C., Oct. 10.—Hon N. J Rouse, of Kinston, addressed the Democratic voters of Wayne county last night in the interest of the candidacy of Hon. F. M. Simmons. His speech was one of the strongest ever heard in Goldsboro; his manner was pleasing and sincere, and his speech a "vote getter." He told of the superiority of Simmons as a lawyer, and of his great power as a leader and the wonderful achievements of this Jones county farmer boy, and that he was now charged by the Governor of North Carolina as being a traitor to the people whom he has so well and successfully represented, and prophesied that in November the people would acquit this great statesman by an overwhelming majority of the white votes of North Carolina, because he believed the people of North Carolina were just. He took up the charges upon which Kitchin bases his rights to Simmons' seat and answered them one by one. He declared that Simmons' position on lumber, reciprocity and his other tariff votes, were absolutely sound and declared that all fair Democrats must approve the record of Simmons in the Senate, and said that Senator Simmons was standing squarely on the Democratic platform and that Governor Kitchin was off the platform, because he had refused publicly to stand by the action of the Democratic Executive Committee and the assembled wisdom of Democracy in the State convention at Raleigh.

The speech of Mr. Rouse was logical and convincing, and on the whole it was a masterful effort.

Settle and Blair Speak at Kinston—Pastor Transferred

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., Oct. 10. — Hon. Thomas Settle, of Asheville, Republican candidate for Governor, and Hon. D. H. Blair, of Winston-Salem, Republican nominee for elector-at-large, spoke to a fair-sized audience in the Court House here yesterday afternoon, and presented the cause of the standpatters in as able manner, probably, as can be done by a standpat Republican orator. Mr. Blair opened the discussion and delivered the usual panegyric of the Republican administration in well-rounded phrases of platitude that have long since lost their meaning to the masses of the people. He also recited the stereotyped Republican argument about the Cleveland administration and low prices, and claimed credit for the Republican party for every good thing under the sun and attributed it all to the present high protective tariff. Mr. Blair's as well as Mr. Settle's speech, was an appeal to the manufacturing interests who are beneficiaries of the tariff. He is a business man, and his speech was essentially of this character. A slight diversion was made when he very correctly stated that North Carolina is being unjustly discriminated against in the matter of freight rates, but failed to show one single effort on the part of the administration to remedy this evil through the Inter-State Commerce Commission. His speech was delivered in chaste language, and was as able as could be under the circumstances. Mr. Settle followed Mr. Blair, and he was given close attention by the audience, seventy per cent of whom were Democrats who always have curiosity to hear what the noted orator has to say. His entire speech was delivered in a vein of sarcasm, of which he is pastmaster The good humor of the crowd was so great that all laughed at his amusing caricatures of Democratic opponents. He stressed the tariff as did his predecessor, and pictured the dire distress that would follow the defeat of this policy Interspersed throughout the speech were anecdotes to illustrate, and these invariably met with hearty laughter. There were probably 250 to hear the speakers, and several ladies were present, and all gave the orators very close attention.

His brother, Father Joseph Gallagher, continues as pastor of the Newbern parish.

The Kinston Merchants' Association is this week completing the compilation of a new rating book to be issued, the second since its organization. At least 8,000, and probably 9,000 names will be embraced by the new list, while the first edition has only 6,000. The compilation of names and credit standing of the citizens of Kinston is about complete, and the list of the county and adjacent sections of Greene, Craven, Janes, Onslow, Duplin and Pitt counties is being revised.

Announcement has been made by Solicitor and Mrs. Henry E. Shaw of the coming marriage of their daughter, Miss Fannie Faison Shaw, to Mr. Murray Valentine Harlan, on Nevember 2th. The nuptials will be celebrated in this city.

Auction bridge was played Refreshments comprised an appetizing rarebit, a delectable surprise devised by Mr. Leon Oettinger; sandwiches, etc. There were two tables at the game of the occasion, and the affair was acclaimed by those present to reflect unbounded credit upon the charming hostess' ingenuity. The guests of the evening were: Misses Way, Martha Allen and Jessie Wilson, Dr. Dan Parrott, Mr. Leon Oettinger, Mr. F. I. Sutton and Mr. Harry Stallings.

Elon College Takes Firm Stand in Regard to Hazing—Statement.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Elon College, N. C., Oct. 9.—President Harper this morning took a high stand in reference to hazing, which all who love decency and order in college life will appreciate. A young man expelled for hazing in another institution offered himself for matriculation here. The young man did not present a certificate of honorable discharge from his former institution. The president immediately communicated over long distance phone with the head of the institution from which the young man came and found that he had been expelled for hazing.

The president of the college in question told President Harper that it would be all right with his institution to accept the young man and that he believed that he would profit by his experience and make a good student. The president communicated these facts to the faculty here and unanimously the young man was refused admission and the head of the sister institution was written the following: "I thank you for saying that it would be perfectly all right with you for us to enroll him as a student, but we do not feel that institutions of learning ought to act thus with reference to each other's expulsion of students. We have always made it a practice at Elon to accept the finding of an institution from which a person came as final, and to act upon it as we ourselves had issued the decree. We believe that, when the colleges of the State have decided this, the practice of hazing will soon be stamped out and not till then."

The student body and the citizens of the college community here approve this action on the faculty's part and rejoice that every step consonant with the high purpose for which Elon was founded is being taken to keep the blight of hazing from the college. As the president stated in his letter from which your correspondent has just quoted, the colleges of the State will do well to adhere to a standard like this when expelled students offer themselves at their doors for admission. Such action will insure the stamping out of hazing and many other evils of college life and do great good in the State's educational uplift.

SIMMONS AT ROCKY MOUNT

Senator Suffering From Tonsilitis, His Speech Delivered by Bailey—Dramatic References to Late Ex-Governor Aycock.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Rocky Mount, N. C., Oct. 10.—Before a crowd that taxed the Masonic Opera House to its capacity, here, Senator F. M. Simmons spoke only a few minutes tonight. The Senator is suffering from an attack of tonsilitis and was plainly ill. His voice was very hoarse. He said he was standing on his record and not running away from it. He denied some charges brought against his record by Governor Kitchin. He was introduced by former State Senator L. V. Bassett in a fitting speech and was followed by F. A. Hampton, Simmons' manager in Nash, who introduced Hon. J. W. Bailey, of Raleigh. Mr. Bailey spoke at length. After discussing several features of the Senator's record, showing that he had always stood with the people and against the interests, he took up Governor Kitchin's criticisms and made an emphatic and convincing answer. He also took up the latest Kitchin circular: "Things Kitchin has done," and undertook to show that in every part Simmons had outdone him. He compared the campaigns of the candidates. Mr. Bailey read from the life and speeches of Aycock, "to show that Aycock entered the Senatorial race because his friends over-persuaded him."

He quoted from Aycock's undelivered speech to show that Aycock not only endorsed Simmons' tariff record, but rebuked Governor Kitchin for assailing a fellow Democrat and Judge Clark for introducing divisive issues at the present time of Democratic harmony and triumph. He referred to pages 199 and 346 and 347 of the recently published "Life and Speeches of Charles B. Aycock." "We did not introduce the beloved Aycock's name into this campaign," he said, "but since it has been done by the Senator's critics, the least the Senator's friends can do is to keep that great North Carolinian's own words before his people."

A special train was operated from Nashville and Spring Hope. It was crowded. The crowd was representative of all parts of Nash and Edgecombe counties.

A BLOOD MEDICINE WITHOUT ALCOHOL.

Recently it has been definitly proven by experiments on animals that alcohol lowers the germicidal power of the body and that alcohol paralyzes the white corpuscles of the blood and renders them unable to take up and destroy disease germs. Disease germs cause the death of over one-half of the human race.

A blood medicine, made entirely without alcohol, which is a pure glyceric extract of roots, such as Bloodroot, Queen's root, Golden Seal root, Mandrake and Stone root, has been extensively sold by druggists for the past forty years as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The refreshing influence of this extract is like Nature's influence—the blood is bathed in the tonic which gives life to the blood—the vital fires of the body burn brighter and their increased activity consumes the tissue rubbish which has accumulated during the winter.

MRS. HEYES.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, the founder of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Iastitute, and a physician of large experience and practice, was the first to make up an ALTERATIVE EXTRACT of roots, without a particle of alcohol or narcotic.

"It is with the greatest of pleasure, that I write to let you know of the great benefit I received from the use of your medicines and self-treatment at home," writes MRS. WM. HEYES, of Ladysmith, B. C. "I suffered for three years from a running sore. Consulted four doctors but they failed to mend or give relief. Finally I was told I was in consumption and would have to consult a specialist concerning my ear, that the dead bone must be cut out before the wound would heal. A kind friend advised me to write to Dr. Pierce, which I did, and after seven months' use of the treatment the sore is healed, and I enjoy better health than I ever did. I dressed the wound with Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve and took the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets' for my troubles. I shall always recommend your medicines.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate liver and bowels.

Even money won't make the Moose go.

Trying to get an office is mainly trying to get somebody's goat.

"Seek and ye shall find," but if it is an office getting mad over it won't help any man to find it.

The colonel says he is the "naked issue." Including Miss Mary Garden, that makes two of them.

The people refuse to rule when they do not take a hand in nominations and vote when elections are held.

People would prefer to see the World Series continue than to have much more of the political game.

If all the candidates for President are good now, two of them have reformed since they were President.

Edison is planning a new kind of phonograph. He must recognize the fact that a different kind is needed to outtalk the politicians.

The people are not hearing many issues discussed. They are mostly hearing contumelious contentions and provoking pretentions.

Trusts and trust humans contribute with so much unanimity to the campaigns of the special interest candidates, that it seems they still understand what they are in big business for.

At York, Pa., an old horseman fell dead when his famous old mare got beat in a race. When this political race comes to an end, if all the losers fall dead the cemeteries will have to be enlarged.

Hospitality depends on whether your guest came in on the water wagon or whether he is tired, dusty, and thirsty. It depends on the kind of a guest you've got whether or not he thinks you know how to take care of a fellow.

"Why, we hit 'im eight times" sounds like somebody had been put out of business, but it happens that nobody was hit with a brick. The New York Giants simply hit Boston's pitcher eight times, but what good is a hit if you don't make a run?

Says the New York World: "The Giants are not progressive. They do not claim that the game was stolen from them.' They have lost the opportunity to call the Red Sox fakirs, pirates and ship scuttlers. They do not know the game like it is played in politics.

Uncle Ephraim says: "Some men rare 'roun' jes' lack dey's eat er raw hunk er lion meat, but dey isn't so rampanterous when dey meet's up wid er man who is not even 'feared o' de spear dat spares no brodder." No doubt Uncle Eph. is satisfied that a bluff won't work when there is somebody to call it.

The "movies" are up to date. If there is a war between the Balkan kingdoms and Turkey, we are to have pictures of the actual battles as they are taken while in progress. Cinematograph operators already have gone to the front, and the insurance companies who are asked to take the risk on them are demanding the high premium of 8 per cent.

The free list is free trade, but Col. Bryan and Governor Wilson have taken the trouble recently to deny that the Democracy is a free trade party. Some of our North Carolina Democrats ought to catch up with the head of the procession. Those who are fooling along in the rear with the free list don't seem to know when it is loaded.

THE TARIFF ISSUE.

The parties in this country can declare for all the fundamentals and issues that they have a mind to do, and so-called new issues may be sprung galore, but with all of them the tariff is the real issue. The party which has been carrying the country for nearly fifty years has done so on the promise of protection to American industries and working men. Outside of the purchase of elections by debauching the people, the Republican party has won because a majority of voters believe protection and the protection party is the best for this country.

In order to win against the Republican party it is necessary to attack the protective tariff upon which it depends to win. The strong argument of the Republicans is that the protective tariff makes this country prosperous, and the reason it wins is because the majority of voters believe that to be the truth. It matters not that they are told that protection is for the benefit of trusts and that it is a burdensome tax on the masses, the fact that the country is invariably prosperous is taken by them to mean that the tariff also is responsible for that. That is where they become impressed with the specious plea of "let well enough alone."

This country is prosperous in spite of the tariff, but if the Democrats expect to win they will have to stress their case and convince voters that protection is wrong and ruinous. It is a tax on all the people for the enrichment of the comparatively few instead of being a tax solely to raise revenue for the government. In view of the serious burden which high tariffs impose upon the people, it is folly to have so many issues that the very biggest one is lost sight off in campaigns. The numerous questions sprung in a campaign but cloud the issues, whereas the battle really narrows down to the tariff.

The politicians spring too many issues instead of depending upon the biggest of all for the purpose of winning. Under the Republican tariff the people have been so taxed that the average man can hardly feed his family. The cost of living is so high that his wages or salary are not sufficient to prevent a distressful problem in the matter of something to eat and to wear. The protective tariff wrongly wrings millions of tribute from the people, and even if a man is getting comparatively high wages he cannot meet his expenses. That is the real condition just at present. The people ought to be tired of being told that taxing them brings them prosperity.

However, the people are the voters and the Republican party has them fooled. They would know better if they had the facts laid before them instead of so much rant on other questions. The tariff extorts high prices out of the people, and yet the Republican party denies that the tariff increases prices. The Republican party actually levies the tariff to insure good prices to protected industries, and yet it argues that it does not do what it is intended for it to do. The tariff beneficiaries are exploiting the people till a working man's dollar won't hardly buy four pounds of good beef for his family. However, the people know, for they are trying to foot the bills, and if they want relief they will have to vote or Woodrow Wilson and Democratic Congressmen.

Governor Wilson in his speech accepting the Democratic nomination said: "There are two great things to do. One is to set up the rule of justice and of right in such matters as the tariff, the regulation of the trusts and the prevention of monopoly." That is the big issue in this campaign, and the Republican party should never be allowed to win again perpetuate the burden of protection and foster trusts and monopolies like it has done and always will do.

THE PUBLIC PAYS THE FREIGHT

An intelligent gentleman said the other day that the public was not concerned in what prices the railroads paid for steel rails, even if they are sold cheaper to foreign railroads than to American lines. He seems to be specially struck with the fact that the railroads are not "kicking" but people who are doing so are not even owners of railroad stocks. His opinion about it was that it was up to the railroads to worry and not the public.

Some men arrive at these conclusions because they skip clean over the academic questions involved. Of course, our friend is clean off the track, for the public is directly concernde in the price paid for steel rails in this country. The public ought to be intensely interested because it is not the railroads which pay for the rails but the public. The fact is, the maintenance of railroad properties and the interest and profits on railroad capitalization are figured into a lump sum, and freight rates are based on the amount of income that it is necessary to raise to pay expenses, meet interest and provide dividends. Verily, the people "pay the freight" and hence the public bear the burden, even down to the ultimate consumer who foots the bill for production, transportation, and profits on every thing he consumes, whether it be little or great. The family which consumes a barrel of flour pays the cost of production from field to mill, pays the freight, and pays all the costs and profits on that barrel of flour till it is landed in the pantry.

Intelligence ought to teach our people that when high prices prevail that it is the ultimate consumer who finally pays the bill. Every man who wears a suit of clothes pays the cost of production from the back of the sheep or the cotton field down to the profit of the retail dealer who hands over the goods to its owner and rings up the sale in his cash register. Can anybody doubt that?

The public, therefore, must realize that it pays "the freight" and supports the railroads and pays every cent of their cost, maintenance, and earnings on capital, whether real or watered. Necessarily, therefore, the higher the cost of running the railroads, whether in the high cost of rails or other materials, extravagance of administration, or dividends on stocks either real or watered, the greater is the burden the public has to bear. Our friend must see whatever the burden is, it is finally shifted to the public, and that burden is great or small in accordance with the extravagance or economy of conducting the railroads.

The man who thinks won't have any doubt whether the public is interested in high-priced rails, for it is the public which stands for it on the final show down. However, this does not explain the indifference of the railroad as to the prices they pay for rails. That, however, is accounted for by the fact that twenty-four directors of the Steel Trust control more than one half the railroad property in the United States, and dominate corporations having a total capital of $35,000,000,000 of which there is a large proportion "watered." The Steel Trust itself has a capitalization of $1,465,000,000, more than $500,000,000 of which is "water," according to the trust officials. The trust fixes the price of rails in a monopolized market, and even if the railroads did not like it, they cannot help themselves because the Steel Trust really controls most of the railroads. The square deal calls for economy in all directions, for all forms of expense or extravagance fall upon the public. It is the people who bear the burden whether great or light. The lighter that burden the more contented are the people.

COUNTY BOARDS OF TRADE

Most every city and many small towns have their Chamber of Commerce, Board of Trade or Commercial Club, but many places are so small that it is practically impossible to keep up a large enough organization to work to advantage. In cases like that, it seems that a county board of trade is the proper thing. The Savannah Morning News says this about it:

"The movement in Tattnall county to organize a county Board of Trade is worthy of emulation. In many counties of the State where there is no one town large enough to support an active trade organization, much can be accomplished toward advertising the resources of the county and its adoperation among the small towns. By the organization of county boards of trade and co-operation between them and the city organizations, it should be possible to do the necessary advertising on a more extensive plan than any yet undertaken."

County boards of trade are good institutions, and they could be operated to advantage in many North Carolina counties. The matter of co operation is an important one, and if we mistake not this plan has worked to great advantage in connection with the large organization at Asheville. Many local organizations ought to cooperate with Wilmington.

Men do not put their money on a horse unless they believe they will get it back at the end of the race. Trust magnates do not put their $100,000 wads on a Presidential candidate without first finding out that he won't do much to trusts if he should get elected. Suspicion is well based when the trusts put their money up to get the President that suits them.

Col. Roosevelt is kicking because the Platt committee seems to want to investigate him and ignore the others. The committee will get to the small offenders later. It's first purpose is to put the probe in where it knows it will strike something juicy.

CURRENT COMMENT.

With boys in North Carolina going to work picking cotton to contribute to the Wilson campaign fund it's a time for adult Democrats to get a hustle on and send in numbers of dollars. And the more the merrier.—Raleigh News and Observer.

Speaking of deadly parallels, here are two interesting extracts from the sworn testimony of Pierpont and Theodore before the Senate investigating committee: "I think I sent for Mr. Pierpont Morgan. I certainly saw him in connection with currency legislation——. I do not remember the exact date, but I remember sending for him."—Theodore. "I never had any communication whatever by telephone, by mail, or telegraph with Mr. Roosevelt in my life that I can remember."—Pierpont.—Columbia State.

The field of romance has produced no greater thriller than the developments in the prosecution of Burton W. Gibson for the alleged murder of Mrs. Szabo. The statement of the State's latest witness, who it was claimed impersonated Mrs. Szabo's mother, is that Gibson had obtained a confession of crime from her and with this as a means of intimidation compelled her to commit other crimes, the details unraveling several murder mysteries. The pages of Poe and Gaboriau produced nothing exceeding this in incredibility. Is it true that truth is so much stranger than fiction, or is fiction being drawn upon to supplement truth?—Savannah News.

PROSPEROUS ST. PAUL'S

Now Flourishing Town of 700—Personal and Other Items

(Special Star Correspondence.)

St. Paul's, N. C., Oct. 10.—About four years ago St. Paul's, on the V. & C. S. Railroad, was nothing but woods It is now a flourishing town of about 700 inhabitaants. Four years ago there was at old St. Paul's, about three-quarters of a mile distant, only one store, while in new St. Paul's there are about fourteen, six of which are brick, a cotton mill, postoffice, bank, three churches, Presbyterian, Methodist and Baptist; a high school with an enrollement of 180 pupils under the aggressive leadership of Prof J. Brown Evans, assisted by seven well-equipped lady teachers; a live newspaper, the St. Paul's Messenger, edited by Mr. D. S. Poole, a newspaper man of long and varied experience who stands at all times ready to give his influence to whatever movement tends to the mental, moral and religious advancement of the people. It would be hard to find anywhere a better citizenship, which, after all, is the best asset any town can have. The St. Paul's Institute was a flourishing institution before the Civil War, and left its impress upon the lives of the citizens of this community.

Property in town and the community has advanced by leaps and bounds. A town lot on Main street, which was sold at the first auction sale for about $200, was afterwards sold to McIntyre & Lawrence, of Lumberton, for $250, was again sold to Townsend Bros., for $1,000.

Traveling men have been often heard to remark that they knew of no town anywhere that has made such wonderful strides in so short a time. There are two physicians in town, but no lawyers. Coley McEachern Company is the name of a new firm on Main street which will sell gentlemen's furnishings and shoes. Dr. T. L. Northrop is having erected on Main street a brick building which will be used as an office.

Mr. J. H. Maxwell, traveling representative of the Wilmington Star, was here this week in the interest of that excellent paper.

A chapter of orphans from the Oxford Asylum, fourteen in number, gave a delightful entertainment to a large audience on last Saturday evening. The receipts of the entertainment amounted to about $60. A collection was also taken at the Presbyterian church which will with the previous collection amount to about $80.

Miss Eveline Shaw, the bright and attractive daughter of Mr. L. Shaw, left a few days ago for New York to take a Bible training course, preparatory to entering the foreign field as a missionery.

The recent meeting of the Fayetteville Presbytery, held here, was one of the most pleasant and harmonious in the history of that body.

Rev. R. A. McLeod, financial agent of the Elise High School, is here in the interest of that institution.

FEDERAL FORCE ANNIHILATED.

Rebels Attack Them in Overwhelming Numbers—Many Slain.

Laredo, Texas, Oct. 10.—A Mexican rebel force numbering 1,800, under the leadership of Checho Campos, practically annihilated a force of 159 Federals near Yerma between Jiminez and Torreon late yesterday, according to advices received here today. Of the Federal force only 17 are said to have escaped. Among the dead are four officers, including Col. Tello, in command of the Federals.

After killing Tello, the rebels hanged his body to a telegraph pole. Eighteen Federals were captured and their ears cut off. The Federal flag bearer was offered his liberty if he would surrender the flag, which he held to after he was captured. He refused and was shot.

The Federals were marching on the public road in a wooded section, according to the report, when the rebels suddenly appeared on both sides and in front of them. The battle was short as the rebel force was overwhelming.

The Federals are known to have inflicted severe loss upon the rebels, but the number of the latter killed is not known.

Paris, Oct. 10.—Reports of a possible insurrection in Poland have resulted in secret instructions being given to the financiers in Russian Poland to transfer documents and valuables to Moscow, according to a dispatch from St. Petersburg to the Temps.

COULD SCARCELY WALK ABOUT

And for Three Summers Mrs. Vincent Was Unable to Attend to Any of Her Housework.

Pleasant Hill, N. C.—"I suffered for three Summers," writes Mrs. Walter Vincent, of this town, "and the third and last time, was my worst.

I had dreadful nervous headaches and prostration, and was scarcely able to walk about. Could not do any of my housework.

I also had dreadful pains in my back and sides, and when one of those weak, sinking spells would come on me, I would have to give up and lie down, until it wore off.

I was certainly in a dreadful state of health when I finally decided to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I firmly believe I would have died if I hadn't taken it.

After I began taking Cardui, I was greatly helped and all three bottles relieved me entirely.

ATHLETICS AT THE BRIGADE

Will be Greater Variety This Winter Than Ever Before in History of Institution—Much Interest is Taken.

All forms of athletics promise to be more popular at the Boys' Brigade armory this Winter than ever before and the class of work done in all lines of athletics and gymnastics will be of a better class than ever as a result of the experience of the past three seasons' work in the gymnasium of this institution. The gymnasium classe are now well under way and all are well attended and this is increasing rapidly as the weather becomes colder.

There are now 14 classes a week; two at night for young men, six at 1 o'clock every day for business and professional men, three at 5 P. M. for young business men and clerks, and three during the afternoons for boys.

Basketball will be more popular this season than in the past. Last Winter 10 teams played regularly every week. This season there will be 14 teams, composed of 70 different players. There will be three different leagues and games will be played by Class A league of six teams on Wednesdays and Friday nights and games in Class B league on Thursday nights, while the boys will play after their classes on Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons. The Class A league will be composed of four teams representing the Brigade and two representing the Y. M. C. A. men. The regular team of Company A, composed of H. A. Kure, Ferd. Duls, Louis Hanson, Ferd. Fick and H. Gerdes, will represent their company this Winter. Company B team, composed of E. B. Register, Harry Register, Simon Branch, George Borneman and Ralph Sholar, will represent their company in the league, while two other teams composed of other Brigade men will make the four Brigade teams. The Y. M. C. A. will put their team in and another team composed of other well known Y. M. C. A. players will be entered All of these teams will be composed of the best players in the city and the class of ball played this Winter promises to far surpass in quality anything of the kind seen in the city before.

Class B league will be composed entirely of Brigade men of the younger generation, at least from a playing standpoint, and these games also promise to be good exhibitions. The first games will be pulled off next week, beginning on Wednesday night, and regularly thereafter games will be played next Monday afternoon. Mr. Geo. Honnet has given a silver cup for Class A league to play for, as has been his custom for several seasons past. Cups will also be secured for the other two leagues this year. The public will be admitted free to all of these games.

At the last regular business meeting of the Brigade, the matter of drilling was discussed by the members who seemed to feel that while, during the early years of the organization this feature was desirable and pleasant, that since the regular employment of a secretary who devotes all of his time to this work and who promoted so many other features which were so much more useful and acceptable to the members that the drill had become superfluous and it was finally decided to discontinue all drilling except with Company C. In the place of the regular Monday night drill there will be a regular course of educational lectures and addresses by prominent business and professional men, both of this city and other cities. These were begun last Monday night when Mr. W. B. Pettus addressed the men upon the subject "The Young Men of China," in which he presented many facts not usually heard and all the men voted it one of the most interesting and instructive addresses heard in the armory in years. Dr. Geo. Worth has been secured to deliver an address on the subject, "The Political and Civil Life of China" and as he has had exceptional opportunity to know of these features in the life of this new but great Republic, he will be heard with great interest. Other speakers have already been secured for other addresses upon important subjects.

The last Monday night of the month will be devoted to social pleasure when the members and their families will be entertained socially. In this manner it is proposed to use Monday nights in a manner calculated to give these young men pleasure and increased benefit and they are looking forward to these events with their characteristic enthusiasm and interest in anything that is done for their advancement.

Mr. E. W. Davis, Past Grand of Neuse Lodge, No. 6, I. O. O. F., of Goldsboro, will visit Hanover Lodge, No. 145, I. O. O. F., at its regular meeting this evening. Mr. John E. Wood, secretary of Hanover Lodge, received a letter to this effect yesterday. Mr. Davis was manager of one of the concert classes sent out from the Odd Fellows' Home the past season and received his early training at the home, being among the first of the children to enter the institution. He will make an address at the meeting tonight and will talk especially of the work at the Odd Fellows' Home. A large attendance of members is desired.

ALLEGED ROBBERS TRIED

Four of Quintette Given Hearing Yesterday—One Gains His Freedom. Money Lost by One Prosecutor Returned.

In course of a hearing before Justice J. C. King that consumed practically all of yesterday and extended far into the night, four of the alleged crooks, arrested Wednesday for fleecing several citizens at Highwood Park, were tried and there will be a further hearing today, beginning at 8 o'clock this morning. The net result of the work of yesterday was the dismissal of the case against H. M. Miller, charged with larceny by trick; finding of probable cause in a similar case against W. C. Pearce; the return of the $54.25 to Mr. C. C. Potter, of this city, said to have lost by reason of the operations of the two defendants named; the holding for Superior Court of Ed Bosewell and George Brayford, for larceny from the person, with further hearing today in a case charging them with larceny by trick. James Hoover, another defendant, will also be tried this morning on a similar charge.

The trial of H. M. Miller, who is said to have been operating the gaming device, and W. C. Pearce, known as a "come on" man, was held yesterday morning. C. C. Potter, an aged man of this city, is the alleged victim, and he was the principal witness.

Mr. Potter testified that he was approached by a young man who gave his name to the officers as W. C. Pearce, who proved a very likeable fellow. Pearce was very talkative and the two strolled around together. When they came to a place where a man had a wheel and a lot of watches the young man put a quarter down, picked up a box and asked the witness to draw a number. He did so. The young man went into ecstacies over his feigned luck. "You are the luckiest man I ever saw; you have won me $80!" he exclaimed. Mr. Potter probably shared the other man's feigned joy to some extent. "All you got to do now is to put down a quarter here so I can get the $80," said the man to Potter. "You get your quarter back and $10 besides." Mr. Potter put down his quarter and, of course, lost it. He kept on losing until he had lost $54.25, leaving him only 20 cents. The affable young man had played down as much as Mr. Potter, both in an effort to win the $80. When all his money was gone Mr. Potter began to raise a row, the affable young man and the man running the gambling device offered to compromise with him by returning $10. However, Mr. Potter wanted all he had lost, or nothing. The arrest of Miller and Pearce followed.

Justice King held that the defendant Miller was not guilty of larceny by trick and dismissed the case. Judgment in the case against Pearce was reserved until 4 o'clock, when the justice announced that he would hold him for Superior Court. The bond was fixed at $400. It is understood that there is to be a further hearing on the question of bond this morning and it will probably be reduced. It is understood that Potter has had all of the money he lost returned to him. Walter P. Gafford, and Wm. J. Bellamy, Esqs., appeared for the defendant, while W. P. Mangum Turner, Esq., represented the prosecution. Later in the day a warrant was issued for Miller for operating a gambling device, but, of course, he could not be found.

The afternoon session convened at 3 o'clock for the trial of Ed. Bosewell and George Brayford, in the case charging them with larceny from the person, it being alleged that they held up and robbed Rufus Phelps, a young man from Ashe, Brunswick county, of $30, on the fair grounds, Wednesday. There was considerable argument of counsel as to whether the defendants, who claim never to have met each other before, would be tried together or separately, the defense contending that they should be tried separately. The defendants were represented by Wm. J. Bellamy, Esq., and Scull & McNorton, while W. P. Mangum Turner, Esq., appeared for the prosecution.

Rufus Phelps, the alleged victim of the defendants, was the first witness. He said that Bosewell asked he and his father to go with him to a point about 300 yards from the grand stand, to see a horse with a broken leg. When they got to the spot they saw a horse, but it did not appear to be limping. They started back and after going a short distance were met by a man whom they now know as Brayford, and three other fellows. Bosewell had something like peach kernels. Brayford had a paper over his hands and asked witness to put his hands on it, to which the witness said he replied that he did not have any money. "Yes, you have," said Brayford, testified the witness, "in that long pocket book." "Yes, you have," chimed in Bosewell, said witness.

Thoroughly frightened, Phelps then took out his pocket book and Brayford took from it three new $10 bills, $30 in all. Witness commented upon the fact that it was a shame to take all the money a fellow had and leave him nothing to return on. Then Brayford handed him $1, saying that he could use it for that purpose. The witness retained the pocket book, and it was exhibited in court.

On cross-examination, the witness said that he and his father had brought two loads of turkeys, chickens, eggs, etc., to the city and that they disposed of their produce before going to Highwood, the witness receiving $65.05 for his produce. He said that he lost $34.75 on one of the games of chance on the grounds before he went to see the horse. He explained that the main reason that they were going to see the horse was that his loss of $34.75 and his father's loss of about $12 had been told to Bosewell, who suggested that they go out there where the horse was and see the secretary in the hope that the money would be returned.

The defense endeavored to show by the witness that he had his pocket book stolen from him in one of the shows, where the witness said: "Girls did the beatenest way he ever saw civilized women do," but this could not be, as the pocket book was exhibited in court.

Mr. W. B. Savage was a character witness for Bosewell, whom he said he knew at Lumina this Summer. Bosewell conducted a "dip" there.

Mr. J. A. Phelps, father of Rufus Phelps, corroborated his son in all essential details.

Mr. C. H. Daniels was called as a character witness for Bosewell, whom he had known for four months. Dr. J. J. Crow, of the fair management, was asked if he had any record of any privileges granted to either Bosewell or Brayford, or both, and he replied, after looking over his books, that he did not. Mr. D. L. Brook, an electrician, who was engaged in wiring the grounds at the time of the commotion following the loss of the money, was an important witness for the State. He told of seeing one man in the crowd on the field where the horse was supposed to be change his coat and hat while on the field.

Mr. J. L. Anderson and Mr. C. D. Gilbert testified to buying produce from Messrs. Phelps in the amount they said they sold. They also testified to the good character of the Phelps'. J. D. Sidbury testified to the good character of Bosewell.

Bosewell took the stand in his own behalf and entered a general denial of the charges against him. After some questions had been asked him by counsel for the defense, Mr. Turner took the defense right much by surprise when he demanded, under a special statute, that the testimony of the defendant be taken down in writing signed by him and attested. This was done. Bosewell denied that he got any money from either of the Phelps', or that he had gone on the race track with them at the time money is said to have been stolen. He said that the elder Phelps reported to him that he had lost some money on one of the gaming devices, and that he volunteered to go with him on the race track to see the secretary about getting it refunded. He said he gave the old man $1. The old man told him he had lost $5 or $6, and the younger man said he had lost $65. The witness said that he and Hoover, another defendant, owned the stand at the end of the grand stand, where it is alleged that considerable of the money of the prosecuting witnesses was lost. It is a place where chances on jewelry are alleged to be given.

Mr. J. A. Phelps was recalled and testified that Bosewell pulled him up to the stand at the end of grand stand, and had him to do drawing for him, an later got the witness to put some money down. He was corroborated by his son.

This ended the testimony. Wm. J. Bellamy, Esq., spoke first for the defense, followed by J. A. McNorton, Esq., also for the defense, while W. P. M. Turner, Esq., closed for the prosecution.

The justice announced that he would hold the defendants to Superior Court. Court took a recess about 10 o'clock, until 8 o'clock this morning.

Dr. M. M. Caldwell, former president of the Wilmington Driving Association, requests The Star to state that in view of numerous inquiries made of him, he desires to say to the public that he has had absolutely no connection with the so-called fair given this week at Highwood Park. The use of his name in connection with the proposed driving features of the fair, Dr. Caldwell states, was entirely unauthorized and that he is neither morally or legally responsible for any losses that may have been sustained on the grounds. Dr. Caldwell asks that it be further stated that he fought to the last ditch to prevent the perversion of the grounds to the uses of a carnival under the guise of a fair.

NOW ON BIG DAMAGE SUIT.

Plaintiff Seeks to Recover $20,000 From the A. C. L. Railroad.

Superior Court was engaged the major portion of yesterday in the trial of the case of R. H. Everitt, by his next friend, W. B. Everitt, against the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company, which will very probably go to the jury some time today. The plaintiff rested its case just before court adjourned last evening and the defendant will begin examination of witnesses this morning.

It is an action for $20,000 for injuries received by R. H. Everitt, who is a minor, while in the service of the company on the local yards in 1907. It is alleged that he was thrown from the top of a box car and was so badly injured that amputation of one of his arms was necessary.

The jury is composed of Messrs. O. C. Hill, J. T. Hawkins, L. M. Bunting, J. B. Griffith, M. F. LeGwin, R. J. Farrow, George Nurnberger, L. C. Sutton, E. P. Cunningham, Ira A. Hines, J. A. Hines and F. J. Walton.

Appearing for the plaintiff are Ex-Judge E. K. Bryan and Herbert McClammy, Esq., while the defendant company is represented by Davis & Davis, and by W. A. Townes, Esq., of the legal department of the railroad.

The case of Minerva Simmons against W. McMillan, et al., an action involving the possession of a house and lot in the city, went to the jury yesterday morning. After being out a short time the jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff.

Judgment for dismissal was entered in the case of Bessie R. Porter against Herbert H. Porter and similar entry was made in the case of Twiggs against Schloss.

Baltimore, Oct. 10.—The Supreme Castle, Knights of the Golden Eagle, in annual convention here today, selected Springfield, Ohio, as the next meeting place in October, 1913. Action also was taken toward re-organization of the military branch.

ACTION WAS POSTPONED

County Commissioners Deferred Until Later Meeting Application for Tidewater Power Co., for Franchise

Sandwiching the regular monthly meeting of the body as an auditing committee, the County Commissioners met as a board in adjourned session for a short time yesterday afternoon to take up a few matters left over from Monday's meeting. The principal matter before the meeting was the application of the Tidewater Power Company for a franchise to lay a car track, gas mains, etc., and operate electric cars along the Federal Point road from Third and Greenfield streets to Sunset Park, the new suburb that is being developed. The county already road along the road for hauling materials has a railroad along the road for hauling materials.

The application was before the Commissioners at Monday's session but action was deferred until yesterday so as to give the county attorney an opportunity to prepare a draft of the franchise, the one submitted by the company not meeting the approval of the Commissioners in all particulars. Mr. Harry Woollcott, secretary of the Tidewater Power Co., was present yesterday to see what action was taken on the matter. Marsden Bellamy, Esq., county attorney, read the form of franchise that he had prepared. It would give the company the privileges asked for and in return the company agrees to build up the surface between the car tracks with macadam to a level with the macadam road alongside and to keep in repair the portion between the tracks and for one foot on either side. This would give the county about seven feet more of improved roadway, as the portion on which the car tracks would be located could be used for travel except, of course, when passing a car.

Commissioner Vollers said that he was not in favor of retarding progress, but that at the same time the granting of a franchise is a matter which ought to have the careful consideration of the body. He thought the board should consider the matter from every angle before letting down the bars, for if this franchise is granted a precedent would be established by which future boards could grant the privilege of using any or all public roads of the county for trolley lines. He advised that the franchise be left over for consideration at a later meeting and pointed out that the Federal Point road is narrow enough now and with a trolley line it would have less width for a vehicle in passing a car.

Commissioner Metts held to the opinion that the road would be widened rather than narrowed, making the thoroughfare practically double its present width.

Chairman McEachern said that he had hoped that Commissioner Divine, chairman of the bridge committee, would be present because the portion of the road over which the company desires a franchise has one bridge on it and he thought the question of how much of the cost of construction and repair of the bridge the company will bear should be settled. He suggested that action be deferred until a later meeting. Upon motion of Commissioner Metts the draft of the franchise was referred to Commissioners Divine and Vollers to report at a recess meeting to be called by the chairman.

The draft of the deed conveying from the county to the Wilmington Red Cross Society, Inc., 10 acres of land of county farm tract for the location of a tuberculosis sanitarium was submitted by Attorney Bellamy. The chairman and clerk were authorized to execute deed.

The bill of costs in the Holly case recently tried in Pender county was received, aggregating more than $1,000. With the exception of a few minor items the Commissioners approved the bills and the same will be paid.

Present at the meeting of the Commissioners were Chairman Duncan McEachern, who presided; Commissioners Metts, Vollers and Kerr and Mr. John Haar, the clerk. Mr. W. A. Williams, clerk of the auditing committee, was also present and acted in his capacity at the meeting of auditing committee.

The report of Mr. H. McL. Green, county treasurer, for the month of September, was submitted to the auditing committee and was as follows:

IMPORTANT CASE DECIDED

Opinion Yesterday In Libel Case Against Schooner

The opinion of Judge H. G. Connor, of the United States District Court for Eastern North Carolina, in the libel case of Irnica Villa, master of the Italian steamship Italia, against the schooner Brina P. Pendleton, heard in this city a few months ago, was received here yesterday. The libellants were suing for $37,500 for saving the schooner, which the steamship aided during a storm off Frying Pan Shoals about a year ago. Judge Connor, in his opinion, holds that the schooner Brina P. Pendleton having tendered to the libellants $900 before the libel was brought that the service was not a high degree salvage, but a low degree salvage and, therefore, he would only allow $900 and make the libellants pay one-half the cost of the action. A reason set forth for the decision was that the libellant did not notify the claimant that suit was to be brought. The case is one of much importance and the opinion of Judge Connor was read with interest by the attorneys interested. Rountree & Carr represent the libellants and John D. Bellamy & Son appear for the claimants.

SPORTING GOOD WINDOW.

Mr. D. H. Cole Has Interesting Display at W. E. Springer & Co's.

One of the interesting and altogether creditable show window exhibitions in Wilmington for "fair week" is at the store of Messrs. Wm. E. Springer & Co., on Front street, and is a splendid commentary on the ability of Mr. D. H. Cole, one of the popular salesmen in the store. The window is devoted to sporting goods and with appropriate background stands a full length figure of a hunter, dressed in nimrod attire, with cartridge belt and the ever popular "snake remedy" prominently projecting from an outside pocket. On either side of him are two old-fashioned shot guns or rifles while at his feet are every requisite for the hunter or trapper or the angler. The window is very clever in conception and splendid in execution.

—A motorcycle ridden by Mr. William Athner and an automobile driven by Mr. J. D. Edwards, of the L. W. Moore real estate agency, collided at Third and Market streets yesterday afternoon about 1 o'clock. The motorcycle was badly damaged, but beyond a badly bruised knee the rider was not injured.

Philadelphia, Oct. 10.—Joseph N. Pew, president of the Sun Company, oil refiners and exporters, dropped dead from heart disease in his office here today, aged 64 years.

RESCUED BY AVIATOR

Chas. Wald Saves Drowning Man In Hydro-Aeroplane

Sea Cliff, N. Y., Oct. 10.—Rescued from drowning by an aviator who came to his aid in a hydro-aeroplane, was the adventure of Walter Strohbach in Hempstead harbor this afternoon. Strohbach fell from a row boat a half mile off shore. His plight was brought to the attention of Charles Wald, an aviator. He covered the half mile in less than a minute, tossed a life preserver to Strohbach and dragged the drowning man into the machine. Then he made the return flight with Strohbach as a passenger.

CAN A CHRISTIAN BE LOST

Subject In Series of Lectures In Progress at First Presbyterian Church—Large Congregation Again Last Night

Large congregations continue to hear Rev. L. S. Chafer in his series of Bible lectures at the First Presbyterian church. Last night the security of the believer was taken as the basis of his lecture in the series on Salvation. This subject will be continued tonight.

He dealt last night with those passages that have been taken to teach that a Christian can be lost and at the service tonight he will deal with the passages that teach that a Christian is secure.

Mr. Chafer stated at the service last night that he was taking up this subject only because of the great value it was to all Christians to know their real relation to God.

"I am not interested in any man's opinion,' the speaker said. 'I only care to know what God has said. This great truth of security is a revelation I do not know I am secure because I feel it. We cannot prove any position by our experience. If God really says it, that will be the end of doubt in any believing mind. There are, however, several passages that trouble Bible readers to some extent and these should be taken up carefully.

"When all the passages that seem to teach insecurity are collected we will find that they fall into about seven classes and we wil take one out of each of these groups and deal with it that we may be able to deal with all other passages of the same class in the same way.

"In first Cor. 9:27, Paul speaks of his own fear lest he might be a 'castaway.' This passage has to do wholly with the Christian's rewards. The word 'castaway' is very misleading; for the real meaning is 'disapproved,' and has reference to the failure in real Christian reward which God promises to every child of His. Rewards are not a part of salvation. After we are perfectly saved we can then win a reward for the way we use our new powers of the new life. The whole context of this passage is of rewards only.

"A second passage is that of 'walking in darkness' as stated in 1st John 1:5-10. Here a person is seen walking in darkness and the question is whether he can still be a truly saved person and be living in known sin. The answer is in the passage. He comes back into fellowship with God by confession; which is the Christian's cure for his darkness caused by sin. No unsaved person can be saved, or resaved (if there was such a thing) by mere confession. Nothing but the blood of atonement can meet the needs of a lost soul. The prodigal is a picture of a Christian in sin. He had his father's nature, name and likeness and had been in the father's house He also went back by his confession rather than by atonement If we allow the prodigal to represent the salvation of a sinner, then any sinner can come to God by mere confession and Christ died for naught

"Some passages speak of salvation as a thing yet future, but that does not mean that we are not now fully saved, and it does not mean that there is any doubt as to the present security Stop praying 'and in death save us' if you dare to believe God's word that says you are saved now.

"The passage in Heb. 6:4-9 which speaks of 'falling away' has only to do with that position into which unsaved people are brought by the Spirit of God that they may make an intelligent decision for Christ. This is clear from the thing that is said and from the ninth verse.

"Again, the last group of passages may be represented by the one in Gal. 5:4. 'Ye have fallen from grace.' This can hardly be said to relate to so great a thing as that God has ceased to reckon one under grace; for that would be a very direct contradiction to all the covenants of God. It is quite another thing for a man to do as these Galatians had done. They had gone back to the law from which grace had delivered them and so were losing their blessings under grace. It is the sphere of their enjoyment of full grace from which they had fallen.

"The natives of Africa call that religion which deems a Christian insecure unless he holds himself in a saved position 'a monkey religion' because the young monkeys have to do their own holding on by their tails when their mother carries them. They also call the religion which deems a Christian secure 'a cat religion' in that the old cat takes all the responsibility of holding on. This is the issue in this great question. Has God undertaken to keep those He has saved? We are to take up the positive promises in this connection on Friday night."

There will be no meeting on Saturday. The subject this afternoon will be, "The Cleansing of the New Testament Priest," and tonight, "The Security of the Believer."

Three Months on the Farm

Charged with selling two half pints of whiskey to Will Faison, colored, Wednesday night and receiving in return 70 cents, Bertha Gause, colored, was given hearing before the Recorder yesterday morning. She was convicted and sentenced to three months on the county farm. A negro man by the name of Green, charged with a similar offense, was found not guilty. Judgment was suspended in a case against Julia Mumford, colored, charged with violating the prohibition law. The woman has aided the officers in rounding up several alleged whiskey sellers in the last few days, hence leniency was shown in her case.

Brooklyn Baptist Revival.

Rev. J. W. Ham, the evangelist, preached another very able sermon at Brooklyn Baptist church last night and was heard by a large and attentive congregation. A large number asked for prayers and there was one accession to the church. There will be several interesting services Sunday. At 11 A. M., the subject will be "Voices From Calvary to You," and Mrs. Ham will sing, "He Cares for Me." At 4:30 P. M. there will be a mass meeting for men only. At 7:30 P. M. the subject will be "Short Beds and Narrow Quilts", and Mrs. Ham will sing "Shadows."

SPLENDID FIREWORKS.

Very Pleasing Feature at Highwood Park Last Night—Other Events.

High praise was given the splendid exhibition of fireworks at Highwood Park last night. As on the previous night, the spectators say that they never saw anything to equal it in these parts. Probably a thousand people witnessed the brilliant display last night.

There was a fairly large attendance at the grounds yesterday. The free attractions were put on as usual, including a most successful balloon ascension, and in addition there was a sham battle between two divisions of 200 or 300 United States troops from Fort Caswell. This was a decidedly interesting feature and greatly pleased all on the grounds. It was regretted that the parade planned for the morning had to be abandoned.

Congressman H. L. Godwin, of Dunn, was scheduled to speak on the grounds in the afternoon, and arrived here yesterday morning with that purpose in view, but he was called to Lumberton on the afternoon train on an important business matter and to forego the pleasure of addressing the crowds at the grounds. Congressman Godwin was greeted by many of his friends while here.

It was said that many of the shows began packing up their effects last night preparatory to moving to Raleigh, where they will exhibit at the State Fair next week.

RALEIGH NEWS NOTES

Two Charters Issued—Marriage—Mr. Simmons In Raleigh

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 10.—A charter was issued today for The Blue Ridge Motor Co., of Asheville, capital $25,000 authorized and $3,000 subscribed for a general automobile and garage business. Another charter is for the Guilford Ginning Co., of Guilford Station, Beaufort county, capital $25,000 authorized and $3,000 subscribed. A dissolution is filed for The Charlotte Tanning Co., of Charlotte, V. J. Guthrie, president.

This morning at 11 o'clock at the home of the bride's brother, Mr. Robert N. Simms, Miss Matt Meredith Simms became the bride of Dr. Robert B. Adair, of Atlanta, the ceremony being by Rev. A. M. Simms, father of the bride. Miss Simms is a gifted and highly esteemed young woman widely known and admired. Dr. Adair is a prominent dentist of Atlanta. Dr. and Mrs. Adair left right after the ceremony for a bridal trip North.

Senator Simmons, who has been here a few days with his daughter, Mrs. Mahler, recovering from a severe cold and consequent hoarseness, left today for Rocky Mount where he was scheduled for a speech tonight. He will speak only briefly and the set presentation of the issues of the campaign will be by Mr. J. W. Bailey, in his stead. The Senator is to speak in Durham tomorrow night and hopes to be in such condition as to fill this engagement fully. The Senator is well pleased with the campaign conditions but is chafing under the physical disability that is just now handicapping him in his campaign work, both in his own behalf and for the cause of the Democratic party.

..Theatrical..

The Grand Theatre will offer for this afternoon and evening another song by Mr. Leonard Chick, who will by special request sing the great Irish song, "For Killarney and You." This is the song that has kept Mr. Chick in vaudeville and he will be heard in it with peculiar interest and pleasure. Those who expect the largest measure of enjoyment at the Grand performances should literally "come early and avoid the rush."

Every theatre-goer goes to his favorite playhouse to be amused and comedy is always a strong attraction. Today the Grand Theatre will offer three rip-roaring comedies which will present a laugh with every transposition of the reel. "Queen of the Kitchen" is a Kalem and of course, the queen is Bridget. Mr. Clark, her employer, invades her sanctum and what she does for him is a plenty. It is all told in the picture. Then this is to be followed by a big double Edison—"A Disappointed Mama", in which is told of a visit to the seashore and a "Mixed Affair," which is a story of business and of the dentist. A general mix-up results and the play is as funny as the name implies. In addition to these two there will be still a third picture and with the music by the complete orchestra and effects for the moveys, no better show will be found anywhere than right here at the Grand.

At the Bijou.

Everything was most favorable for a big day yesterday at the popular Bijou, and it was a big day, too. Amusement lovers appreciate the high class, clean entertainment and the solid comfort of this amusement palace and they never fail to crowd there daily. There is a peculiar fascination about the old Bijou that never fails to attract the people, and the enterprise of the management in furnishing one of the handsomest and most modernly improved theatres to be found anywhere and the biggest shows at 5 cents, afternoon or night, is also being appreciated.

Today's bill is going to present another collection of what is rarest and latest. It will be headed by an especially powerful film in "The Pity of It", which is a story of heart interest, which carries a big moral with it. It tells of the waning love of a wife and of the recklessness of a husband under the circumstances. Both go down and drink of the dregs, and, at last, the woman sees the light, but it is too late. The story is full of pathos, but it is one of beauty and will carry a great moral to every heart.

"The Beach Combers" is another film with a big moral. It shows the danger of circumstantial evidence, but the big reward that will surely come to the man who is honest, and who has courage enough to stand up for what is right. It is another great human-nature story.

The other films are just as good, and contribute in swell manner to the bigness and greatness of today's Bijou bill.

The Onondaga will clear for Brunswick after discharging that part of her cargo which is for local merchants.

The Gold Dust Twins' Philosophy

IF you have ever fumed and fussed, because of dirt and grime and rust, and said unto yourself, "Oh, dear! This household work will kill, I fear"—then it is time that you should find some other method far more kind.

The Easiest Way

Of all the woes a housewife bears, one always fills her day with cares: The kitchen after-meal-time muss, is quite enough to make one fuss. What, with the pots and pails and pans, the knives and forks and plates and cans, no task of man, however grim, the half as mean is handed him.

Two little willing workers aim to enter in this household game: their job, the lessening of work, a task that neither of them shirk. With active little hands and brains they grab the irksome household reins, till soon each kettle, pot or dish, is just as bright as you could wish. And not until the chores are done, from sink to silver, sun to sun, could anything inspire the two, to drop the tasks they have to do.

Therefore, if you have never known, assistance such as we have shown, your troubles end, where joy begins. Now, Mrs. Drudge, the Gold Dust Twins! Henceforth, as dishes congregate, and dingy pots that cannot wait; when cutlery, in sad array, awaits you at the close of day—"Cheer Up!" Forget the labor planned: You have two aids at your command.

COTTON CLOSED AT ADVANCE

After a Slight Decline the Market Became Firmer and Closed Very Steady at a Gain of Four to Eleven Points.

New York, Oct. 10.—After a slight decline early today, the cotton market became firmer and closed very steady at a net advance of 4@11 points on trade buying and covering. The opening was steady at a decline of 2@3 points and the active months sold seven points below the closing figures of yesterday, during the first few minutes, under liquidation by buyers of Wednesday afternoon. Southern offerings and local pressure inspired by the favorable appearance of the weather map and the unsettled condition in the Balkans. Liverpool, however, was better than expected; there was considerable buying here both by Liverpool houses and by leading trade interests, and the market soon turned firmer on this support and covering by shorts, who evidently wished to even up their commitments for over the week-end, owing to the holiday on Saturday and the forecast for unsettled and colder weather in the Western belt, pointing to the possibility of unfavorable developments during the two-day adjournment. After the close of Liverpool the demand here became a little less active and prices which had sold 4 or 5 points net higher, eased back to about the closing figures of last night under Southern offerings and scattering liquidations, but the market later firmed up again on renewed covering, with prices making new high ground for the day and closing within a point or two of the best.

Spot, quiet. Middling uplands, 11.10; do. gulf, 11.35; sales, 200 bales.

CONSIDERING CANAL BILL.

British Foreign Office Has the Matter Under Advisement.

London, Oct. 10.—"The entire matter of the Panama canal bill is under consideration by the cabinet," was the reply today of Sir Edward Grey, British Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, to a question in the House of Commons. Sir Edward said:

"Informing the United States of Great Britain's intention to address a communication to Washington when the Panama Canal bill had been received and considered, the foreign office added that there should be eventually a difference between the two countries in regard to the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, which, if it could not be settled by other means, Great Britain would ask that it be referred to arbitration."

READING WAS THE FEATURE

Overshadowed All Other Stocks by Reason of Its Activity—Operations Largely Restricted to Specialties—Money.

New York, October 10.—Aside from Reading, which overshadowed all other issues by reason of its activity and strength, operations in today's market were largely restricted to specialties such as American Can, common and preferred, with a new record for the former and National Enameling, the Fertilizers and Oil shares.

Reading gained over two points by midday to the accompaniment of the familiar "segregation" rumors, but lost some of this advantage later on profit-taking.

Other representative securities moved within narrow limits, except United States Steel, which rose over a point soon after publication of the September record-breaking tonnage figures.

The foreign situation was again an active influence, London recording lower prices for Americans, and following those with more selling here. In addition, arbitrage houses reported direct offerings from Berlin and Paris, where there was considerable improvement over yesterday, but remained sufficiently unstable to induce further liquidation.

Monetary conditions continued to reflect the unsettled condition abroad, tending towards greater firmness, in spite of the diminished demand. Considerable call money was placed at 5½, with a high rate of 5⅝. Local banks have lost about $2,500,000 thus far. The feature of the Bank of England's statement was a loss of five million gold, while the Bank of France lost $3,400,000 of the metal and decreased its discounts $44,000,000.

The bond market was well sustained, with unusual activity in various low priced issues. Total sales, par value, were $2,050,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call. Total sales today, 614,-000 shares.

MILLIE-CHRISTINE TWINS

More of Their Death Near Whiteville—Preparing for Another Tour

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Whiteville, N. C., Oct. 10.—News reached here yesterday afternoon of the death of the Millie-Christine sisters at their home 7 miles north of town. One died at 9 o'clock Tuesday night and the other yesterday afternoon. These sisters like the Siamese Twins were born with their bodies vitally bound together. One of them had been ill for several weeks but the other was apparently well until Tuesday. They were about 60 years of age.

These twins were Africans and were born in slavery in Columbus county, and when quite young were kidnapped. They were given a good education and were then used for exhibition purposes by a German who had gotten possession of them. Later they were found in Europe and given their freedom. They had visited every European country and could speak a number of European languages fluently. For many years they had spent their Winters traveling from place to place giving exhibitions but always spent their Summers at their home near here.

Had they lived they would have left this month on their annual tour of various cities in this country. They had accumulated considerable wealth and were well cared for.

ROSEBORO HAPPENINGS.

Congressman Faison Speaks—Orphan Class—Town is Improving.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Roseboro, N. C., Oct. 10.—Congressman John M. Faison was in town yesterday and delivered a speech in his usual discourse to about a dozen Democrats. He left last night for Ivanhoe, where he will deliver a speech today.

The Oxford Orphan Asylum class gave a very interesting concert here last night, under the auspices of the Masonic fraternity. The auditorium was crowded and everybody present reported a very enjoyable occasion.

Roseboro is becoming one of the most progressive little towns in this section. The railroad traffic, as shown by an official report, is nearly 500 per cent. greater than it was three years ago. There are several magnificent residences and three brick stores now under construction, which will add greatly to the town. We welcome farmers, business and professional men to our town.

thieves." One was from President Roosevelt.

"It is of little value, but I offer it as a showing of the friendly attitude of Mr. Roosevelt in 1904 at a period when he has indicated he considered me under the ban," said Mr. Archbold.

The letter in full was as follows:

"White House, April 26, 1904.

"My dear Mr. Archbold:

"I am in receipt of your letter of the 25th, and shall carefully take up the name of your brother-in-law with the hope that I can promote him.

"Sincerely yours,

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

The other letters and telegrams related to one recently made public by Mr. Hearst in which Congressman Sibley wrote Mr. Archbold that President Roosevelt was anxious to see him and advising him to come to Washington and take luncheon with the President. The letters addressed to Mr. Sibley expressed Mr. Archbold's regret that he could not come and expressed the hope that he might later visit the President. Mr. Archbold told the committee that he did not go to the White House at that time, January, 1904.

"Mr. Roosevelt, on the stand before this committee, put me in the peculiar attitude of having been brought to luncheon with him in 1908 at Oyster Bay, by Senator Bourne," said Mr. Archbold.

He said that on a visit to the White House President Roosevelt had spoken of the return of Mr. Archbold's daughter and son-in-law from Africa.

"I must have you bring them over," the President said, according to Mr. Archbold, and the latter added that they went on the day appointed to Oyster Bay at the invitation of Colonel Roosevelt.

Mr. Archbold declared the letters made public by Mr. Hearst had been stolen from the files of his office; but he declined to name those whom he suspected of the theft. He said he believed the letters contained "nothing that is subject to just criticism," and that they were "such letters as a man in a position like mine would write to men in representative positions."

"I never made a request of any man that meant the infraction of an existing law or the making of any new law, or the giving of any special privilege," he said.

"Of course conditions have changed. The campaign publicity laws since made have changed things, but the other matters in the letters I would repeat today. I have no apology to make."

He declared it was "amazing that a man in Mr. Roosevelt's position would make the assertion that because of this contribution of money to Senator Penrose for campaign purposes Mr. Penrose should be expelled from the Senate."

"It is a monstrous thing to say," said Mr. Archbold.

The letter sent by Republican Chairman Hilles to George W. Perkins and given to the Senate Committee today was in part, as follows:

"In your letter of recent date you question my assertion that millions of dollars of Harvester money were expended in the effort to nominate Mr. Roosevelt.

"The public has not been furnished with these statements as to sums received and disbursed by you and your allies. But there are other ways of asserting the amounts expended and particularly by estimating the easily ascertainable cost of things that were done. Five or six of Mr. Roosevelt's witnesses have already admitted that they expended approximately $667,000."

The letter stated that this was exclusive of the money spent in a great number of States, which are named, and in which Mr. Hilles said a hard Roosevelt fight was made. He said that in addition "enormous sums were spent by the Roosevelt management in fomenting strife and creating nearly 200 contests in the Southern States and in transporting the fictitious claimants to Chicago and paying their hotel expenses while there."

"There was evidence on every hand," the letter continued, "of the expenditure of large sums of money in Mr. Roosevelt's behalf, and his pre-convention campaign expenses undoubtedly amounted to not less than $2,000,000."

As to the assertion that "Harvester money was used," Mr. Hilles says in his letter to Mr. Perkins, that the latter has been an active figure in the International Harvester Company and that as chairman of the finance committee, "to all intents and purposes, you have been the Harvester Trust."

"There is a fact full of significance," the letter said, "namely, that the Harvester Trust itself is silent as to whether it has contributed anything. It permits you, however, to go on with your political activities and to bring its affairs conspicuously into public notice.

"Why does it do this unless it is itself interested in your endeavor? Whether justly or not, your conduct is subjecting it to the suspicion that it is trying to elect Mr. Roosevelt in order that it can get rid of government prosecution."

Jefferson City, Mo., Oct. 10.—The Progressive party's National and State tickets are entitled to be printed on the official ballot in Missouri, according to a decision rendered by Judge Wurdeman, of St. Louis County Circuit Court, who sat as a special judge here today. The Republican State Committee is expected to appeal to the Supreme Court.

CLARK ON FREIGHT RATES.

Exceedingly Strong Speech at Kitrell Yesterday.

Kitrell, N. C. Oct. 10.—Hon. Walter Clark spoke here today to a large crowd of farmers and town people and made a very strong speech in advocacy of his candidacy for the Senate.

Among other things he said: "The discrimination in freight rates against the towns of North Carolina amounts to over $10,000,000 annually, which is a dead loss to the merchants of the towns and cities and to the people of North Carolina. He stated that if elected to the Senate, he would at once introduce a bill which would prevent this heavy and unjust drain against the people of this State. He called attention to the fact that although Mr. Simmons had been in the Senate 12 years and Mr. Kitchin in Congress for 12 years, neither of them had done anything to prevent this. Indeed, Mr. Simmons in May 1910, and again in June, 1911, voted against and aided in defeating Heyburn's amendment, which would have prevented inter-State railroads from charging less for a long haul than for a short haul and had voted to leave the matter to the Inter-State Commerce Commission.

He further called attention to the fact that neither of these gentlemen during their 12 years in Congress had done anything to stop the war contributions of $4,000,000 which North Carolina has been paying annually for Federal pensions. The contribution, which in fact, was this year raised to $5,000,000. And he further cited the fact that neither of his competitors during their 12 years' tenure in Congress had done anything to relieve our farmers from the tax on tobacco which cost the North Carolina farmers over $7,000,000 annually. Indeed, two years ago, through the influence of the Tobacco trust, this tax was raised to 8 cents a pound. Judge Clark said that against this imposition of $22,000,000 which North Carolina loses, Mr. Simmons claims that he had obtained an appropriation for a few hundred thousand dollars for waterways in the East, Mr. Small also claims credit for this. To this, a Rockingham farmer recently replied, "That was to drain swamps for the Lumber Trusts."

Judge Clark further said that many States paid no tobacco tax whatsoever and that the amount paid by North Carolina was $2,000,000 heavier than that paid by any other State. He asked if it was not time for North Carolina to have a man in the Senate who would fight this discrimination of $22,000,000 against the State annually, from the first minute his feet crossed the threshold of the Senate. The crowd enthusiastically applauded.

DYNAMITE CASE.

Activities of McManigal Traced From Hotel Ledgers.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 10.—For the first time since he confessed to dynamiting, Ortie E. McManigal, before a jury in the "dynamite conspiracy" trial today was identified by hotel clerks as having visited various cities at times when explosions occurred.

H. E. Pearce, Kansas City, Mo., in the pages of a hotel register traced "J. W. McGraw" as having registered at a Kansas City hotel August 20th 1910, three days before McManigal blew up a portion of a $1,500,000 bridge across the Missouri river, which, he says, was arranged for by W. Bert Brown, of Kansas City, and James McNamara.

Pearce identified McManigal in the court room as McGraw. The line of testimony was followed by the government as tending to carry out McManigal's confession that he actually caused the explosions detailed in his confession and for which the government charges members of the executive board of the International Association of Bridge & Structural Iron Workers paid him at the rate of $200 a "job."

R. J. Quigley, of Duluth, Minn., identified McManigal as a visitor at a Duluth hotel in July, 1910, shortly before an explosion at Superior, Wis. F. W. Gates said McManigal was the "J. G. Brice" who frequently registered at a hotel at Rochester, Pa., near which later were discovered quantities of nitro-glycerine hidden in a shed.

The activities of James B. McNamara on his return to Indianapolis, after blowing up the Times building, also were traced in hotel ledgers. At the suggestion of his brother, James B. took the name of "Frank Sullivan," dropping all the aliases he had used on the Pacific coast.

In presenting great bundles of telegrams which were identified by managers of telegraph offices from many parts of the country, but contents of which were withheld until later, government attorneys announced it would be shown that arrangements for the Pacific coast explosions were carried on by telegraph; that Olaf Tveitmoe and Eugene A. Clancy, San Francisco, and J. E. Munsey, Salt Lake City, communicated about the explosions in telegrams and that Clancy and Munsey, "worried over the search instituted for the dynamiters," sent back and forth messages concerning the whereabouts of James B. McNamara.

EXPRESS RATE HEARING.

Flat Charge for All Packages Advocated by J. L. Cowles.

Washington, Oct. 10.—A flat charge for all packages, whatever their contents, and whatever the distances of transportation, was advocated by Jas. L. Cowles, secretary of the Postal Progress League, upon the resumption today of the express rate hearing before the Inter-State Commerce Commission. Mr. Cowles said the American express companies were carrying parcels from Europe up to 11 pounds weight at a flat rate of 27 cents to any part of the United States. He believed that such service could be given to the people of this country at a profit to the carriers, provided their business was managed efficiently.

One trouble is that there is no efficiency in the car service, he insisted. "The railway has pointed out that the average return from a car is about $2.50 a day and that its average daily mileage is only 16 miles. Why, the modern freight cars do not earn as much as the old fashioned stage coach earned half a century ago."

Walker D. Hines, for the express companies, declared express companies would be confronted with a heavy deficit if the proposed rates were made effective. He said the percentage of actual profit for $1912 thus far was less than 4 per cent. Mr. Hines had not concluded when the commission recessed until tomorrow.

A. C. L. TO INCREASE STOCK

entitled to subscribe to approximately $3,300,000 of the $6,000,000 capital increase of the railroad company. It is not yet known whether the Coast Line Co., of Connecticut will, in turn, increase its capital stock, in connection with securing funds to subscribe to its share of the new railroad stock.

The Coast Line Co., of Connecticut, has only $17,640,000 capital stock outstanding. It is through this small holding company that Henry Walters controls 12,000 miles of railroad, including the Atlantic Coast Line, Louisville & Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis, and several smaller roads, covering practically the entire South, east of the Mississippi. This company is paying dividends at the rate of 12 per cent for the current calendar year, four quarterly declarations being made in December for the following year.

An increase of $3,400,000 in the Coast Line of Connecticut Company's holdings of the railroad stock will add $238,000 to its annual income, or approximately 1.4 per cent on its capital stock. As the dividend rate is now high, it seems likely that the holding company will increase its stock rather than its dividend at this time, and thus secure funds for subscribing for the new stock. Following last year's increase in the railroad's dividend to 7 per cent, the holding company increased its rate from 10 per cent to 12 per cent. The first increase in its capital stock was made in January, 1910, when $5,040,000 stock was sold to stockholders at part to provide funds for retiring $5,000,000 certificates of indebtedeness. The company had a profit and loss surplus on June 30th, 1911, of $22,450,000.

The increase in Atlantic Coast Line Railroad common stock puts at rest all conjectures regarding calling of Atlantic Coast Line-L. & N. collateral trust bonds at 105.

The Coast Line's 51 per cent of the $12,000,000 Louisville & Nashville new stock will be put back of these bonds as an additional collateral and they will not be disturbed for the present at least.

DECIDE ON STRIKE TODAY

Railway Officials and Labor Leaders Journey to Atlanta

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 10.—Railroad officials, as well as labor leaders are en route to Atlanta for the meeting tomorrow which is expected to decide whether a strike of trainmen and conductors shall be called on other lines entering the city. Charges that the Southern Railway, the Atlantic, Birmingham & Atlantic, the Louisville & Nashville and the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis lines have violated "neutrality regulations' ' will be threshed out at the conference.

After failing to reach a basis for agreement at Augusta today, Dr. Chas. P. Neill, government mediator under the Erdman Act, and leaders of the Conductors and Trainmen's unions, arrived here tonight. Milton H. Smith, president of the Louisville & Nashville, is expected here tomorrow and E. H. Coapman, vice president and general manager of the Southern Railway, already is on the scene.

For the first time in five days the Georgia Railway succeeded in operating a passenger train from Augusta to Atlanta with a United States marshal to protect the strike-breaking crew. It was announced that trains will be started in both directions tomorrow and an effort made to maintain regular schedules.

In discussing the situation G. H. Sines, vice president of the Trainmen's union, said:

"If we find that other roads are lending active assistance to the Georgia Railroad, we will warn them to keep hands off. If they continue to furnish aid the strike will become general. If a general strike is decided upon, union officials at Augusta will order the men to walk out."

EXPOSE OF DAWSON TREATY

State Department Charged With Interfering In Nicaraguan Elections

El Paso, Texas, Oct. 10.—An alleged expose of the so-called Dawson treaty, whereby it is charged that the State Department of the United States interfered with the elections of Nicaragua, is contained in testimony given before the Senatorial sub-committee sitting here. It was offered by Attorney Angel Ugarte, former Honduran minister to Washington and London, and by General Juan Leets, formerly of the Nicaraguan army, who completed their testimony today.

"We gave proof of American interference in Nicaraguan affairs through the Dawson treaty in which a special envoy from the State Department signed an agreement whereby only five members of the Conservative party could be elected," said Senor Ugarte. "This occurred secretly in September, 19[illegible], when Juan Estrada was President. Dawson came with credentials from the State Department and signed the agreement with Estrada and four others, including Adolfo Diaz, who was later made President without any pretext of election.

"This, we believe is indicative of Wall Street influence, since the Morgan interests, in the name of others, had made a National loan of one and one-half millions of dollars.

"The Liberal party which composes 70 per cent of the population opposed the loan since it required the turning over of the customs houses and National Railway and as well opposed the imposition of Diaz. The subsequent revolution and American intervention in Nicaragua, we believe, was the direct result of the condition created by the Dawson agreement and the continued power of the Conservative or Clerical party."
